WE NOMINATE

Anne Clayton (Mrs. Jacques, P.) Honore, the remarkable and ever-anonymous Director of the Princeton Blood Donor Service, the splendid undertaking jointly sponsored for the past 16 years by Princeton Hospital and the Princeton Chapter of The American Red Cross. In the week ahead, as all segments of the Princeton Community together assume responsibility for the success of Blood Donor Week, this 42-year old Princetonian will be the guiding-force behind the scenes — the individual who maintains year-round contact with over 1,000 Princeton residents and who understands the significance of maintaining and strengthening a program that time and again means the difference between death and life.

For the past decade Mrs. Honore, the mother of a Princeton High School junior and a Glassboro State College sophomore, has been the link between "patient needs" and the willingness and capacity of volunteer donors to supply blood "without demand for replacement, without question of dollar-payment." This has meant for Mrs. Honore until recent months, and with only occasional relief from Red Cross associates, coverage 24 hours a day, seven days a week. This past month, for instance, within the space of 24 hours, the Red Cross had to locate and schedule 47 donors and over a weekend "found" 26 pints of blood for two emergency operations!

The position Mrs. Honore commands in the hearts of those aware of her dedication was underscored by a letter which came some months ago to TOWN TOPICS from a Princetonian whose "major, tricky vascular operation" required the careful coordination of the contributions of 10 donors. "I gather," so the fully recovered patient wrote, "she has been doing this for years and that this has included taking calls in the night at her home for emergency purposes. There must be literally 100's who have benefited from her work but who have never heard of her and all she does. She is a public servant in the most vital sense of the term."

A member of a venerable Princeton family, and the youngest of three children, Mrs. Honore was graduated from Princeton High School with the Class of 1939 and completed her professional secretarial training in New York City. Two years as one of Princeton's "pioneering commuters" from the Junction to Manhattan, where she was affiliated with an energetic public relations concern, were followed in succession by a year with the Princeton Bank and Trust, her house-hunting activities as the first woman employee of Princeton's RCA Laboratories, and the founding, and operation for a period of several years, of one of this area's most effective secretarial services.

Mrs. Honore, whose husband is a veteran staff member of RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center, is understandably proud of the ways in which her family has shared her incredible extra-hour regimen and notes that 18-year old Susan has just "signed on" as a donor. Once an avid gardener, an avocation she had to forego for the Blood Service, and now an enthusiastic fisherman looking forward to the Honores' excursions to their retreat in Sea Isle City, Cape May County, she has recently been combining her administration of the Blood Service with her additional assignment as Red Cross Director of Service to Military Families.

For minimizing her own contributions to a program without peers in this country; for gently reminding others that a day rarely goes by "when one Princetonian doesn't turn to another for desperately needed help"; for urging others to "answer the call now"; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

WHO'S IN CHARGE HERE?
Mooney, Nini et al. couldn't exist without them," says Borough Mayor Henry S. Pattemore.
"I'd have to think of doing without them," says Mayor Carl G. Schaefer of the Township.

With the campaign over and elected officials duly elected, with municipal budgets just around the corner of the calendar and Nassau Street almost put back together again and dog licenses due the first of the year, well, who runs this town, anyway?

In Borough and Township, where mayors and officials, in spite of the dedicated, mightiest they put into their jobs, are still only part-time, the full-time salaried employees, be they the engine, heart and sinew of the operation — the man who makes things work.

Two at the Top. At the top, the administrator and official, as tough, able pair of look-alikes: Robert F. Mooney for the Borough, Joseph B. Nini for the Township. Both are natives born, raised and schooled in Princeton. Both are young, vigorous, competent, quite capable of absorbing the various growth shocks that tremble through Princeton from time to time. Mr. Mooney has been on the job since 1946, Mr. Nini since 1948.

They suspect suspiciously at each other, growl insults back and forth on the telephone, play golf together every single Sunday of the year, go off to baseball games together.

When a par-3 golf course was under consideration for the northern part of Community Gardens, everybody said Mooney would never stand for it; with the course so close to Township Hall, Nini would slip away for practice sessions at luncheon and slip up his game ahead of his rival.

When consolidation was under the microscope and seemed that one of the other might lose his job, they would say to Nini: "It's hard to keep them straight sometimes." When "I'd like to see you dog-catcher."

Cooperation. With the continuing extension of cooperation between Borough and Township, the two administrators are working in tandem more than ever before. On recreation, joint library, possible planning for a joint Board of Health, as recommended by the Dilley report. They have always sat together on the

I'M MOONEY, I'M NINI: Or is it the other way around?
At any rate, Joseph R. Nini (left) manages the Township and Robert F. Mooney (right) manages the Borough. Do they have full-time jobs? See "This is Princeton."

sewer operating committee. But they have full-time in individual jobs, quite apart from the cooperation that is increasingly necessary between them. And the jobs are quite similar: Gordon Griffin, attorney for both Borough and Township, drew up the duty list for them both.

As administrators, they supervise the work of every municipal department. If work on the Cherry Hill sewer is under way, they are both there. Mr. Nini will knock on the door of Frank Quinby, Township engineer, and say "Now, how about this?" and the two of them will listen to the contractor, estimate how much the man is exaggerating when he complains about the rock every 25 feet and decide whether to level the boom on him, or sympathize.

Since February, Mr. Mooney has been hearing complaints about the uprooting of Nassau Street. Like Mr. Nini, he will turn to his engineer, Thomas Carley, and the two of them will prod and poke and persuade and answer the outraged cries of motorists and pedestrians and try to get the thing done as soon as possible.

"I Protest!" "Usually the public is irate when they come in here," says Mr. Mooney philosophically. "I guess it's good to get it off their chests." A man will start to pound the counter about some traffic summons. Well, maybe it's because there aren't enough clear signs, but take the problem to the Traffic Safety Committee and maybe that man's complaint has accomplished something.

"The hardest thing we have to face is the taxpayer who won't take 'No,'" observes Mr. Nini. "We are hemmed in by the law, you know, without much flexibility. If you come in on February 1 to pay for a dog license due on January 31, all we can do is fine you 50 cents, and people can't understand this. It's especially rough on the girls in our office — people just don't believe they know the law and the regulations."

In theory, the two administrators work a 35-hour week. But after Mr. Nini has gathered all the threats to make sure that a sewer problem has the attention of both engineer and health officer so that it won't be dropped inadvertently because each department thinks the other one is doing it, and after Mr. Mooney has settled a delicate personnel problem involving an employee who thinks he has a grievance, then it's time for an evening meeting.

Mr. Nini averages more than two evening meetings a week, over the years, and he figures this amounts to 10-15 additional work weeks. He has been, since 1963, a member of the Planning Board and right now, that Board is meeting four nights a month.

It's Exciting. "I enjoy the Planning Board," the administrator says. "It's involved with everything that's basic and fundamental to the growth of the Township and is vital for an administrator." Homework from the Township's planning consultant is constantly being fed into Mr. Nini's work-basket: high-rise, land use, population projections. "It's fascinating and important," he says.

Mr. Mooney has Council meetings and pre-Council agenda meetings. As an experienced hand, he is consulted often on matters of policy. Councilmen will turn to him to find out what was done before and did it work then and should we do it now?

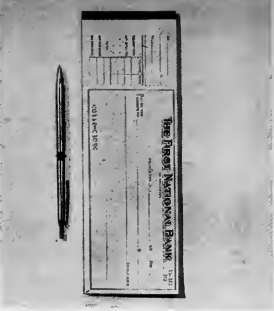

Most of the overtime comes when those budgets have to be prepared. Department heads turn in their requests, and then the work for councilmen and Councilmen, Mooney and Nini begin. "In January and February you never know when you'll get home at night. Weekends, too," Mr. Mooney says.

"Budget meetings are the time when new councilmen get their feet wet, and we invite the newly-elected ones to sit in right after election, even before they're sworn in."

Mr. Nini says. He has a new man to break this year: Burton Peskin, elected to his first council term last week.

Both Bob Mooney and Joe Nini attend courses and seminars in public administration and related subjects, usually at Rutgers. A recent one, held in September, was "valuable but not long enough," said Mr. Nini. "These discussions with people from all over the state are tremendously illuminating and interesting," says Mr. Mooney.

Who else? There are 94 Borough employees and 95 Township employees (including police in both) and say which are next in importance after the administrators

Some are widely known to the public, others necessarily do their jobs in privacy.
As Township administrator, Mr. Nini has something Mr. Mooney, as Borough administrator, does not have: a right Township clerk, responsible for elections from registration of new voters to the final count election night, and for the care of the records, deeds, budget figures and Township Committee minutes.
And W. Joseph Shinn, as Township zoning officer and secretary to the Planning Board, does not have a predecessor Borough counterpart either.
Joe Shinn is the man who will tell you whether you need a variance in build that screened porch and who owned the farm where your development sits in.

The two engineers, like the two administrators, are alike. Thomas Cawley for the Borough and Frank Quinby for the Township are young, handsome, ruddy men with an abundance of technical competence.

The public knows them best during the winter when they join crews and equipment to shovel away the big snow storms. Technical engineering knowledge gives way at these times to the kind of canny battlefield strategy that gets crews out in the middle of the night and covers the important streets clean by morning.

We'll fix it. Mr. Cawley is known as a public relations expert because he never becomes angry or flustered when house-holders call up and say, "Why haven't you picked up my leaves?" or "There's a pothole in my sidewalk." As a rule, he goes to the house, examines the pothole and arranges to have it repaired immediately, all with insurance good cheer.

The Township is still a developing community and Mr. Quinby almost always has a catalog of rolled engineering drawings under his arm. New Planning Board regulations call for close preliminary scrutiny by the engineer before plans are submitted to the board and this requirement has increased work and responsibility in the engineer's office.

Health, Welfare. Boards of Health have a curious range of duty, especially the one in the Township, a municipality half-rural, half-urban. Mrs. Marcella Farley, the Township's health officer, has to keep down ragweed in fields, snuff mosquitoes, inspect 500 individual septic systems and peer into wells to make sure they are healthy.

Like her Borough colleague David Blaker, she must look for the lugs on boxes of shellfish shipped to restaurants and stores to make sure the fish came from sources listed as pure. She and Mr. Blake make crews sweep their floors; they register births, deaths and marriages. They give raves shots to dogs, and report communicable diseases.

Mr. Blake has more restaurants to oversee. Mr. Farley has more sewer problems. Mr. Blake, incidentally, is a second-generation health officer, following his father's profession.

The quietest departments are probably the welfare of the people and the welfare of the people in a small town, is unthinkable. Miss Anne McQuade in the Township and Mrs. John Ahrens in the Borough, perform their duties unobtrusively and with warm understanding, throwing out the rules when necessary to solve a human problem.

With the public, the least popular departments are the tax collecting offices run in the Borough by Laurence Patterson and in the Township by Mrs. Olive G. Henge.

But a close contender is the Borough's traffic violations desk and its custodian, Mrs. Theresa Thomas. It is impossible to imagine a more thankful job than Mrs. Thomas'. It reaches such heights of unobtrusiveness that it is a word, that Borough police have installed a secret buzzer near Mrs. Thomas' foot. If a motorist finds too high in anger and abuse, Mrs. Thomas quietly moves her foot, the buzzer sounds in the police department and an officer appears. "Need any help?" he will ask.

A man without a buzzer is Mr. Mooney, but on occasion he can use one.

"I get these calls at midnight and I o'clock on a Saturday," he says. "People are arguing at some party and they call me up — what's the Borough tax rate? They want to know or 'What year was the consolidation vote?' I think I'd rather do budgets."

MORMONS SEEK PERMIT To Build Chapel. The Mormon congregation that has been meeting in Princeton since 1963 has applied to the Township Zoning Board for a special permit to build a chapel. The edifice would be erected just off Mercer Road in the development that lies between Quaker Bridge and Gallup Road on the way to Lawrenceville.

The application will come before the Zoning Board next Thursday, November 18 at 8 in Township Hall. A permit is required because the property is in a residential zone.

The Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) has been holding services in the Y.W.C.A.

THAT NEW BOROUGH HALL Ordinance Introduced. An $800,000 ordinance for the new Borough Hall was introduced Tuesday by Borough Council. Borough residents will have a chance to comment and to listen to the architects when the public hearing is held on Tuesday, December 14, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall, that is, the old Borough Hall, that is, the new Borough Hall will be built where Miss Fine's School used to be, and to make room for the new structure, Council passed the ordinance providing $15,000 for leasing Miss Fine's down (all but the gym) and then awarded to Interstate Wrecking the demolition contract. Interstate was low bidder at $12,400.

The $800,000 includes construction ($50,000), utilities, site preparation, architects' fees, interest on bonds and a contingency fund of $46,000. About $20,000-$30,000 from the Swan estate must be used by the Borough for landscaping. This is included in the figure, but will be paid back to the Borough from the estate. The new Borough Hall will not necessarily cost $630,000. The figure has been set high for safety's sake, and if anything is left over, the extra money will go into capital surplus.

Henry Jandl and Richard Choriton, the architects, have prepared preliminary sketches, and these tentative ideas will probably go back and forth many times between Mayor and Council, Planning Board and architects before a final decision is reached, and a final sum is set.

The money will probably be paid off over a 25 year period at approximately 3% interest and the roughest preliminary estimates indicate a possible seven-point tax rise per year.

Antennas. A self-appointed two-man sub-committee (nobody else volunteered) consisting of Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Councilman Enoch Durbin will meet with applicants now jockeying for permission to introduce community antenna service to the Borough.

Applicants are Crosswicks Industries and the Nassau Broadcasting Company (WHWH). Council wants more facts before leaning one way or the other, or possibly both. There is no legal reason why both companies shouldn't compete for the Borough customer who wants a clearer view into his TV set.

Some of the questions raised: would cables be laid underground or go overhead? Would middle-income housing be needed in the Borough?

Mayor Patterson welcomed Mr. Minis and said, "I look forward to hearing your suggestions as often as you want."

Mayor Patterson asked Borough residents who have lived in towns with community antennas to tell him and Mr. Durbin about the way things work elsewhere.

The proposals for Princeton are fairly elaborate, offering direct lines to policemen's and firemen's homes and a 24-hour weather service with a camera scanning thermometer, barometer and clock to the tune of background music.

"We might even televise basketball on our closed circuit," suggested William Buggit, attorney for WHWH, "but of course," he added hastily, "that is more involved and expensive."

Housing Again. The municipal election, only one week old but already history, came back into view when Philip Minis, defeated Democratic candidate for Council, rose to ask whether Mayor and Council had made any plans since election day concerning middle-income housing.

He reminded Mayor and Council that all candidates had made pre-election state-

"make them." He said that Council had received some ideas about middle-income housing but had not held any discussions in the past week. Then a lengthy debate began among Councilmen, Mayor and Mr. Minis about the scope of the Housing Authority where middle-income housing is concerned. Mr. Minis said that such housing was beyond the jurisdiction of the Authority, and Mayor Patterson finally said that he would confer with the Authority to obtain answers. He added that density would be one of the chief problems the Borough would have to solve if it considered middle-income units.

Councilman William Walker reported that a meeting on formation of a Juvenile Conference Committee had been called for November 23 and that by December 1 such a committee might well be in existence.

He read a letter from an unidentified Borough resident commending Patrolman Harry Kahny, who is resigning from the police force. Mr. Walker himself commended both Mr. Kahny and Sgt. James Kopitner, who is also resigning. An oral examination will be held December 8 to choose a successor to Mr. Kopitner as sergeant. So far, 12 applications have been received for the two positions now vacant on the force.

Patrolman Anthony Banfoure has received a commendation for his work in solving recent car and wallet thefts, Mr. Walker reported.

The traffic and parking ordinance was passed without sufficient comment.

Following customary practice, Council deferred for a month its consideration of a liquor license transfer of own-

Ship W. Bryce Thompson IV, John G. Thompson and Caroline L. Dismore ("Piecock Alley, Inc.") are the new purchasers of the 20 Bayard Lane cocktail lounge and they need Council approval of their new ownership.

Twelve neighbors, in petition, noted the non-conforming nature of the cocktail lounge and said they didn't object to transferring the license to new owners, but reserved the right to protest if the lounge were expanded.

Borough engineer Thomas Cawley and Councilman Alan Curick assured Clyde Woody, 12 Green Street, that a tree expert who is coming to Princeton on some Palmer Square business, would look at an ancient silver maple which Mr. Woody says is unsafe and a threat to his property. Mr. Woody protested that he cannot repair his sidewalk, as the borough wants him to do, until the tree has been cut down. Mr. Cawley suggested that trimmed roots might do the job. "We aren't interested in cutting down century-old silver maples unless we really have to," said Mr. Curick with feeling.

"WE PROTEST"
Fluoridation. "We protest, deny, assert, deplore, suggest and demand."

In these words, members of the Citizens' Water Committee have communicated to the directors of the Princeton Water Company their objection to the company's decision to proceed with fluoridation of the Princeton Water supply.

"Your legal advisors on the contrary, we again deny the legal power of the Board of Health to order or compel this action. In this, the ruling of counsel for the Boards of Health agrees with us."

"We assume your liability for all damage, material or personal, that may result. We deplore your restricted vision in failing to appreciate the seriousness of the violation of personal rights. . . we suggest that if you honestly believe fluoride treatment for children to be meritorious, you cooperate in a plan such as Clinton, N. J. has of providing fluoride tablets or bottled fluoridated water to those requiring it."

The letter concludes with a demand that the company as a public utility chartered by the community, "supply us with pure, potable, unmedicated water."

The letter is signed by Samuel G. Franz, 64 Battle Road, for the Committee. For other letters on fluoridation, see Mailbox, pages 30 and 31.

How To Care
For Your Carpet

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ALL SPOTS

Remove as much excess of the spilled material as possible with a dull edged spatula. Blot up as much as possible, with tissues or white cloths. Apply cleaning solution sparingly, preferably by blotting with spouncer. Work from edge toward center to avoid spreading the spot. After each application of solution, blot with tissue. Do not rub as this may distort pile or spread the spot. Brush up the carpet pile lightly after spot has been removed.

CLEANING SOLUTIONS FOR IN-THE-HOME USE

1. Detergent solution — Carpet cleaning solution: mix as directed on label
2. Dry Powder — Household detergent (Tide, Cheer, Fab, etc): mix one table-spoonful to a pint of lukewarm water.
3. Drycleaning solvent — Any approved consumer brand. Read the label carefully and observe recommended safety precautions.
4. Alcohol — Rubbing, denatured or isopropyl
5. Acetone — Common drug-store brand; or nail polish remover WITHOUT lacquer, or lacquer thinner.

CAUTION:

Apply solvents sparingly. Follow the solvent manufacturer's instructions. Do not over-wet. Water alone can cause a brown or yellow stain. Do not use soaps, ammonia, washing soda, or highly alkaline detergents.

If the stain has not responded to your attempts to remove it, the assistance of a professional cleaner should be secured. Give the professional cleaner as much help as possible by telling him the material causing the stain, what you have tried, the color of the carpet, and the age and general condition of the carpet.

give blood in times of emergency. During Blood Donor Week, November 14-21, it will open several registration centers in the area to take blood samples.

The Blood Donor Service, a unique free blood program which has been in operation for 16 years, requires new members if it is to continue to meet the needs for all patients in Princeton Hospital. Many of the previous donors are reaching the age limit for giving blood and the patient load in the Hospital is on the rise.

On October 1, the Service was called upon to locate and schedule 47 blood donors in 24 hours. Three weeks ago, 26 volunteers were contacted to help meet two emergency needs for blood. The Service's job of contacting donors relieves affected families and friends of the burden of searching for blood donors.

Beginning on Sunday, November 14, and going through Sunday, November 21, potential donors are requested to give five minutes of their time to register and have a blood sample taken. The sample is needed to identify the blood type and Rh factor so the Red Cross can determine which donors meet a particular blood type demand of the Hospital in time of need.

On the two Sundays, registration centers will be open at the Harris Street Firehouse, the Chambers Street Firehouse and the Outpatient Department of Princeton Hospital between 10 and 3. On weekdays from November 15-19 a silver trailer will be

DEC. 30 IS DEADLINE
For School Candidates. Petitions from candidates for the Borough Board of Education must be received by 4 p.m. on December 30, according to William H. Rhodes, secretary of the Board. The election is scheduled for February 8.

Board members whose terms expire are the Rev. Elmer G.

Dean Honnighausen, a board member of 21 years, and prior to departing for South America last week on a seminary inspection tour. "I thought, when I ran last time, that it would be my last term. I am tremendously interested in our educational system here and I am particularly concerned now about the future, especially in reference to the high school and to these two communities working together."

Mr. Burkland is believed undecided about running again. He faces a possible conflict of interest in that his wife is now a teacher at the Nassau Street school.

DRIVER FINED $205
On Revoked Last Charge, John A. Marcus, 17, 22 Alexander Street, was fined $205 Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for driving while on a revoked last.

Two Princeton motorists had their licenses suspended, Richard Federico, 23, 293 Hamilton Avenue, lost his for 30 days and was fined $25 for careless driving. For backing into a highway, Alfred Perna, 19, 102 Mountain Avenue, was fined $25 and his license taken for 15 days.

Joel F. Carlson, 18, 82 Harris Road, paid $20 for not having a muffler on his motorcycle. Fifteen dollars was levied against Rihel C. Mianual, 58, 10 Little Street, failure to yield at an intersection, and Thomas T. Darby, 69, 70 Leigh Avenue, "stop sign" violation.

In criminal court, Charles Marinas, 24, of Trenton, was ordered to pay $12 a week for 29 weeks to the complainant who said that he was the father of her child born in October. He was also assessed $10 for court costs.

Last week in Township court, Magistrate Glen B. Butler Jr. fined Thomas B. Callaghan, 19 Mountain Avenue, and Beverlee M. Nevius, 17, 83 Church Avenue, Hopewell, $105 each. Both were charged with careless driving. Lorenzo Managato of Irvington was referred for action by a grand jury. Currently free on $250 bail, he has been charged with passing worthless checks in the Township.

APARTMENTS REJECTED
By West Windsor Board, The West Windsor Township Zoning Board last week denied the application of a firm to erect 330 one- and two-bedroom apartments on the Delaware and Barclay Canal near Alexander Road.

In refusing the proposal of Overlooking, Princeton, Inc., the board noted that the project would exceed the Township's 15 percent limit on apartment construction. It further added that it lacked jurisdiction to grant an application exceeding this limit.

The board pointed out that in order for it to approve the project, the township Planning Board and Township Committee would first have to amend the zoning ordinance.

Also denied was a counter proposal — the construction of some 40 garden apartments on the 49-acre plot — but the board added that it would take favorable action if certain requirements were met.

One stipulation was that the developer acquire a 50-foot right of way leading to Alexander Road or Route 1. Princeton realtor Bryce Thompson, 4th, an official of the corporation, had originally proposed using Canal Road as a right of way, but to this the board replied, "too narrow."

The board also requested a more detailed sewer and water plan for the smaller project and for a more pin-point location of the apartment units on the plot.

BROTHER, SISTER BANNED
By Hopewell School Board
The Hopewell Valley School Board has banned a brother and sister from attending its school system for failing to submit to tuberculin tests. The tests are required by the laws of New Jersey, the State Board of Education and the school board.

Banned were James Temple, 12, and his 14-year-old sister Elaine, children of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Temple of Hopewell. The school board, Mr. Temple opposed the test because of personal conviction. He is a religious abolitionist. The Radio Church of God, forbids such testing.

Calling the tests "dangerous things," Mr. Temple said he would have his children examined by a physician to determine the presence of P. T. B. His son and daughter were killed in 1963, but was asked to submit to further tests by school physicians. In separate resolutions, the board said that the parents "have failed and refused to permit the children to have further tests." Cassel R. Ruhli, attorney for the board, reported that no exceptions for religious convictions. "As I see it, the board has no choice but to exclude the youngsters from school," he said.

In other business the board adopted on final reading a policy which will make school buses available for non-school and community activities. Student interest in casting the long dissenary vote, accepted the resignation of school custodian Leonard Strohwig, who resigned because of a schedule change and appointed Theodore M. Stephens as elementary school principal, effective January 1, 1966, at $1,016 per year.

HOPEWELL MAN KILLED
By Passing Truck, William Brokaw, 61, of Laurel Road, was killed about 6:30 Saturday night by a passing truck as he attempted to cross Broad Street, near Princeton Avenue, apparently, no one saw the accident.

The victim was struck in the head by the side view mirror of a truck operated by William Housland, 26, of Trenton. He was pronounced dead at Princeton Hospital. Mercer County physician Dr. Leonard Berry listed a skull fracture and multiple head injuries as the cause of death.

The driver told police he saw no one but stopped to investigate when he heard a loud thud against the mirror of his truck. Troopers James Bojanek and Albert Waldron investigated.

The great-grandfather of six, Mr. Breakay was an employee of the Belle Mead Army Supply Depot. He is survived by his wife, Anna, a son, Joseph of Hopewell; two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Grover of Trenton and Mrs. Irene Housland of Skillman; 17 grandchildren; a great-grandchild and six great-grandchildren.

Three Hurt, Three Princeton residents were slightly injured late Saturday evening following a two-car collision at the intersection of Stockton and Edgell Streets.

Elena Semenovitch, 37, 50 Edgell, one of the drivers, complained of a pain in her neck.

John C. Gallaudet, 17, 207 Edgerbourne, and a passenger in his car, Nancy Sowers, 16, 183 Constitution Drive, received cuts and abrasions.

Police said the Semenovitch car, a Volkswagen, stopped to turn left into Edgell, was hit from behind by young Gallaudet's sports car traveling on Stockton.

Police charged Miss Semenitch with failing to give a turn signal. Gallaudet was ticketed for careless driving.

TIGHE A SUICIDE
Taken Life by Hanging, Arthur J. (Buck) Tighe, 66, was found dead at his home, 685 Prospect Avenue, on Monday. Princeton Township Police listed the case as a suicide and said that he had used a length of clothing to hang himself.

Born in Princeton, Mr. Tighe retired last spring as an accountant for Public Service, having served for 17 years. He was a member of St. Paul's Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary F. Tighe, two daughters, Mrs. T. Oliver Smith of Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. Ernest B. Walden of Princeton; a brother, Paul L. Tighe of

Try "The Next Door"

Princeton's newest coffee house, "The Next Door," opens at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, featuring spontaneous entertainment, conversation and a simple menu.

Located in an intimate, rustic room on the lower level of First Presbyterian Church, "The Next Door" will be open on Fridays and Saturdays to young adults of the Princeton community, including students at the University, Westminster College, and other educational and all young professionals of the area.

The entertainment and operation will be basically voluntary and it may be that some new talent will be discovered. The coffee house is designed as a place where young people of various backgrounds and personalities will find an inexpensive cup of coffee, good entertainment and kindred spirits. Inquiries and offers of assistance may be directed to Maryann May (432-9072).

Lyons, N. J., and six grandchildren.

The service will be held at 9 a.m. this Thursday at the Mather Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue. High requiem mass will be celebrated at 10 in St. Paul's Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

PLANNERS FINDER

And Consider Development. After hearing informal presentations from two developers Monday night, the Township Planning Board adjourned for a three-hour executive session on the proposed new Township zoning ordinance, the one that was discussed with heat and light before Township Committee last week.

About 20 different questions, raised by the audience last week, were laid out on the planning table and discussed. Most were discussed, chiefly because the people who raised the questions had not carefully read all the provisions.

About four or five items were held for re-drafting, however. These include the status of boarding schools like Hun and Columbus Borochoir, the assistance factor provision, the extent of the B.L.A. business zone on Route 208, and so on. These items, in the form of amendments, will be released as re-drafted to both public and private.

and Committee in about a week, and will be discussed when Committee meets on December 6.

"The Pony Cart Place Association" talked informally with the Planning Board Monday night about plans for a site between Bayard Lane, Morgan Place and Mountain Avenue, where the burned-out riding stable used to be.

The Board looked with favor on the plan, and after referral to the engineers where formalities will be worked out, it will be brought before the Board again, probably in December or January. Owner is Mrs. Anita Hader.

Benedict Yedlin, who wants to develop the land around "Snowden," on Snowden Lane, produced a revised plan, as suggested by the Board in October, showing only one cul-de-sac, instead of two. He has made a continuous loop road emerging on Lynwood Lane at both ends.

MISSING GIRL SPOTTED

By Township Police. A 14-year-old girl reported missing at 6 p.m. Sunday from her home at 15 Robert Road, was found the next day by Township police.

Police said the girl, Patricia Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley W. Clark Jr., a student at Notre Dame High School, was supposed to have left home to attend a square dance. Instead, they said, she disappeared the night at the home of a friend, but failed to inform her parents.

TRANSPORTATION THEME
Of Junior Museum Exhibit. "Transportation" will be the theme of the Princeton Junior Museum exhibit scheduled to open on Saturday, November 20. Model-builders and collectors of all kinds of ancient and modern vehicles are invited to put their models on display.

Thursday and Friday, the Museum will open more than 100 feet of shelves on its third floor home in Borough Hall for children who have models to display. Mrs. Jerome Singer will handle incoming exhibits from 10 to 12 noon and from 2 to 4. She will also request information so that a card listing the owner and type and use of the vehicle can appear in the display.

The Museum exhibition will open November 20 with a balloon launch at 10 a.m. from Borough Hall. The balloons will contain cards which, when filled out and mailed back by those who find the balloons, will show path of flight.

In the afternoon there will be displays of U.S. Mail trucks, Bell Telephone trucks and Rockwood Dairy trucks on the grounds of Borough Hall. Children will be able to inspect these vehicles closely and talk with company representatives about their uses.

Other activities planned for the weekend exhibition include showings of the prize-winning film, "The Red Balloon," and trips to the Princeton Airport, the Van Zandt Farm Implement Agency in Blawenburg, the Ford "Mustang" assembly plant in Metuchen, the New Jersey Turnpike Authority headquarters, Portraiture Research Center and the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

Exhibits on display will include a "Timeline of Transportation" made of models on loan from area children, electric question-and-answer boards made by Kenneth Bowery, Valley Road Electronics Club, a working scale model of a cracker plant from Secony-Nabli Oil Company, a "Reometer" from Actia Casualty Company which measures reaction speeds of drivers and a display of art objects on transportation from private collections. For information on other Junior Museum activities.

20-YEAR ELANE SIGNED
By Historical Society.
Princeton University has leased historic Bainbridge House on Nassau Street to the Historical Society of Princeton for 20 years at a rental of $1 a year. The Society will take possession when the Public Library moves into its new building on Witherspoon Street sometime after July 1, 1966.

The house was the birthplace of Commodore William Bainbridge, commander of the "Constitution," and served as headquarters for Sir William Howe during the British occupancy of Princeton in 1776.
The Society will provide maintenance of the building, as has the library.

According to Rudolf A.
Clemen, Society president, a drive to raise endowment funds will be conducted within the next year. Other officers of

with the Post Office Department tenting the building for a five-year period, with options to renew the contract for ten years. The contractor will pay property taxes to the town.

The new structure, which will come under the government's construction-lease program, will have 1,800 square feet of parking space and occupy 1,500 square feet itself.

COMMITTEES ASSIGNED

For Stuart Bazaar, Mrs. Lawrence E. Benson and Mrs. John P. Murray Jr., co-chairmen of the December 4 Christmas Bazaar at the Stuart School, have announced their committee chairmen. Assignments include: silent auction, Mrs. Andrew Davlin and Mrs. Samuel H. McDowell; games, Mrs. James Lillie and Mrs. James Harford; fine needlework, Mrs. Robert O'Connor; dessert, Mrs. Mrs. D. T. Blake, and dried flower arrangements, Mrs. Donald Donahue.

Also, plants, Mrs. Robert Flannery and Mrs. John Kenney; refreshments, Mrs. Elias Conisider; gourmet food, Mrs. Dudley A. Eppel and Mrs. Edward Miller; Christmas cards, Mrs. Bernard A. Cooke and Mrs. C. Russell O'Brien; Christmas decorations, Mrs. Shelly Aelfelt and Mrs. Fred Convery.

Book sale, Mrs. Robert F. Goheen and Mrs. Marston Morse; ski tree, Mrs. William Combs; Christmas balls, Mrs. Theodore T. Tams Jr.; things to do, Mrs. Fred M. Blalock; entertainments, Mrs. Frank Vonnack; religious articles, Mrs. David W. Blair; art, Mrs. Percy H. Wood Jr.; alumni, Mrs. J. T. Vailbrecht; silhouettes, Mrs. Richard M. Huber and Mrs. Joan Sheppard and grab bag, Mrs. George W. Conover.

Treasurers for the bazaar are Mrs. Robert W. Norbury and Mrs. Warren C. McDaniels. Mrs. James J. Hughes is committee secretary and staging arrangements are being handled by Mrs. William Boyd and Mrs. John E. Caton. Mrs. J. Lauplin and Mrs. James C. Stretch are in charge of publicity.

Parking Garage?

"It's just a preliminary gleam in the eye," said Fred Blalock, president of Palmer Square, Inc. "But a parking garage will certainly be a necessity within five years."

The land in question primarily is the Playhouse parking lot between Jackson and Hullah Streets, owned by Palmer Square, Inc. According to present Borough ordinance, a parking garage could be 60 feet high (six or seven stories). However, nobody knows whether the subsoil would support such a building, and after all, the new public library nearby hit water very close to the surface.

"We couldn't justify a 65-foot parking garage economically right now," Mr. Blalock continued, "but it might make it strong enough to support more stories as needed, if underground conditions are promising."

MEETING ANNOUNCED

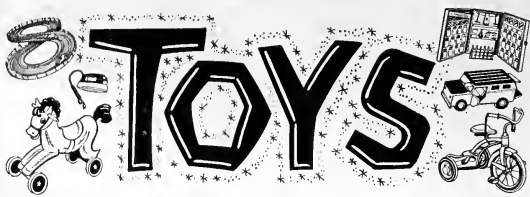

By New Historical Society. The newly-formed Van Harn Historical Society of Montgomery will hold its first public meeting on Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. It will take place at the Montgomery Township Elementary School, Orchard Road.

Roger McDonough, director of the Department of State Library, Archives and History, will speak on the roll of historical organizations in preserving our heritage. Also at the meeting future plans and projects will be announced and discussed and by-laws of the group will be distributed.

Several exhibits of historical interest, including items from the Harlingen and Blawenburg chapters of the Township, will be shown in the school. Photographs of points of historic significance will also be shown.

The Van Harlingen Historical Society, named for the Rev. Johannes M. Van Harlingen who was the last minister.

 ister of the Dutch Reformed Church in Hartington to conduct the services in the Dutch language nearly two centuries ago, will work to preserve historic sites and monuments. Two projects which will be discussed at the meeting, according to acting Secretary Joseph L. Pierson, are the preservation of the old grist mill near the intersection of Dead Tree Run Road and the one-room schoolhouse, purported to be the oldest school still standing in the County, on the corner of Orchard Road and Route 1.

COFFEE READINGS SET
 by Public Library.
 The Princeton Public Library will again sponsor a series of "Readings over Coffee" during November and December. The readings will have the theme, "With a Southern Exposure," and will include work by Langston O'Connor, Eudora Welty, William Faulkner and Zane Grey Caldwell.
 Dr. Donald Kroyod, professor of speech at Temple University, will lead informal discussions on Wednesday November 17, 24, December 1, 8 and 15. The discussions will begin at 10 a.m. Lists of books by the above authors and the books themselves are available at the library.

WOMAN'S WALLET TAKEN
 In Princeton Bank. The First National Bank of Princeton notified Borough police last week to report the theft of a woman's wallet in the main lobby.
 The victim, Mrs. Florence F. Penneck of Faculty Road, told police she was filling out a deposit slip and her attention was distracted from her wallet while she went to retrieve her wallet. Returning moments later, her wallet containing $200 was gone.

The following day, Mrs. Penneck notified police that her credentials and personal papers had been returned in an envelope through the mail.

George Marshall, 13 Quarry Street told police that his car, which had been parked in his garage, had been jacked up during the weekend and its two front tires and wheels stolen. He placed a value of $86 on them.

On Monday, Edith Guertler, 222 Ewing Street, told police that the radio antenna of her car, parked in her driveway, had been snapped off, probably sometime Sunday night. She added that this was the second time in two weeks it had occurred.

SKIERS PLAN PARTY
 At Pine Brae, Princeton Ski Club will initiate the season with a fall open house at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, November 19, at Pine Brae Club, Route 518, Rocky Hill-Blairstown Road. Interested skiers are invited to attend. A contribution of $1.50 per person will be asked to cover costs.

UNICEF RAISES $1,650
 "Buckets Of Pennies." Trick or treat on Halloween brought in $1,650 for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Relief, according to Mrs. Raymond F. Maie, adult adviser for the Princeton celebration. The amount was more than double the 1964 tally.

About 300 children took part. Funds raised included 8,100 pennies. ("We had to put them in buckets for the bank to count), and a lone $10 bill. The young people's committee included Sue Heineken, chairman; Peter Heineken, treasurer; Verna Groo and Julie Rake, chairmen of block captains; Ann Vivian, Nancy Farrow and Robin Bailey.

"A woman said she had nine children call," Mrs. Maie commented, and that she gave their entire contribution to the first child. We hope that next year people will give pennies and tickets instead of candy, and spread them out among the children."

RAKERS ARE WARNED

No Leaves In Gutter. "An awful lot of people are raking their leaves into the gutter," said Chief Peter J. McMahon at his press conference Tuesday, in a preamble to his observation that it probably isn't going to stop until some little boy or girl gets hit by a car.

"Parents should warn their children not to play in piles of leaves in the street," he said. "A motorist can't tell if there is anyone in them until it's too late." He recounted that an irate driver had told him recently that he almost bit a child playing in a pile of leaves at the corner of Madison and Wiggins Street.

"It was dusk and the motorist told me he was just ready to go through a pile of leaves when he thought he detected a dark object. Thinking it was a dog, he cut his wheels at the last moment and then noticed it was a small boy."

The proper space to rake leaf piles is the area between the sidewalk and the curb, Chief McMahon repeated. He was aware that there are some streets where there isn't enough room to do this, to Mrs. Raymond F. Maie, adult adviser for the Princeton

"If these people call the Engineering Department, they will be advised where they can put their leaves. Under no circumstances," said the Chief, "should they be raked into the gutter."

 He listed four reasons: first, children play in them; second, they block the vision of a motorist.

Obituaries

Stanley T. Farwell, 47 died suddenly on November 5 at his home, 10 Cherry Brook Drive. He was the husband of Mrs. Charlotte H. Farwell. Mr. Farwell was director of training at the RCA Data Processing Division in Penna Neck. A native of Chicago, he was a graduate of Purdue University.

Also surviving are three daughters, Miss J. Turner of Cincinnati, Mrs. Fred Stewart of Renton, Wash., and Miss Jan Farwell of Denver, Colo., a grandson, a brother, Captain Arthur Farwell of Honolulu; a sister, Mrs. Frances Baker of Rockford, Minn., and his mother, Mrs. Rachel T. Farwell of Maple Plains, Minn.

The service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Peter Frisley officiating. Interment will be in Oak Wood Cemetery, Chicago, at the convenience of the family. Local arrangements were made by the Mather Funeral Home.

Pleasant Phos, 67, died on November 6 at his home, 35 Birch Avenue. He was the husband of Mrs. Elsie P. Phos. A native of Falls, Va., Mr. Phos had been a Princeton resident since 1923. He was deacon of the First Baptist Church and served as superintendent of the Sunday school for many years.

Also surviving are five sons, Thomas P. James A. Floyd H. Charles W. and Harold W., all of Princeton; four daughters, Mrs. Mary A. Gee, Mrs. Evelyn P. Smith, Mrs. Martha E. Barbour, all of Princeton and Mrs. Sandra Dillard of Orange; three sisters, Miss Sarah Phos and Mrs. Mary Wyant, both of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Julia Garnett of New York City; 22 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The service was held in First Baptist Church, the Rev. Edward Smith officiating. Memorial gifts may be made to the Sunday School Department of First Baptist Church.

William F. Brown Jr., 52, died on November 3 at his home, 26 Edgeline Avenue, Pennington. He was the husband of Mrs. Lillian S. Brown.

A Pennington resident for 20 years, Mr. Brown was president and founder of the Bill Brown Advertising Company, Inc. of Trenton. He was a former trustee of the Central Baptist Church, past president of the Trenton Optimists Club, a member of the Wasee.

GIRL SCOUTS HELP OUT
In variety of projects, Fifty area Girl Scouts of Junior Troops 138, 91, 206 and 35 helped the Mercer County Tuberculosis Fund Association prepare letters for the annual Christmas Seal mailing. The girls were working under troop leaders Mrs. S. Russ Schay, Mrs. Richard Gilbert, Mrs. Robert Levine and Mrs. Robert Westover.

In another project, a number of the younger Girl Scouts assisted at the International Festival held last weekend at the YMCA building. Also helping with community projects were members of Troop 35 who sent to patients in the geriatric division of Princeton Hospital on Halloween.

Next Tuesday, Girl Scout leaders and members of the Service Team will meet at the area Girl Scout office at 4 Green Street. The purpose of the meeting to begin at 9:30 a.m. will be to choose delegates for the Mercer Girl Scout Council Assembly to be held in April. A nominating committee will present a slate of candidates, but nominations may be made from the floor providing the consent of the nominee has been secured.

WORLD WORK OF YMCA
To Be Discussed Paul T. Babson, chairman of the international Committee of YMCA, will speak at the YMCA World Service Dinner next Wednesday at the Princeton Y. Mr. Babson will tell of his visit with the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer and his recent visit to Japan.

The dinner, open to the public as well as members of the Mercer County Federation of YMCA's, will begin at 7:15. Interested members of the community should make reservations in advance.

The Mercer County Federation will again support the work of Liberian YMCA's. As in the past, it will provide financial aid in program of training Africans for YMCA leadership.

MUSIC In Princeton

"BACH TO BARTOK"
For Children, Bartok's lively Rumanian Folk Dances will join with Bach's violin concerto in a minor in a program of music for children to be given Monday morning at 9:30 in McCarter Theatre by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra. Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct. He also has included in the program Benjamin Britten's "Simple Symphony," Aaron Copland's "Benjamin Britten's" and Paul Hindemith's "Trauermusik" with Karen Fritzsche as violinist. Helen Klawnsasser will be violinist in the Bach.

The program, clocked for one hour, will be given for youngsters in fourth grade all the way to high school seniors. Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box-office at $1 each. One free chaperone ticket is available for every ten student tickets.

Two additional young audience programs have been scheduled for the spring.

GO FOR BAROQUE?
Sunday Concert Set. The Friends of Music at Princeton and the newly-formed Princeton University Music Association will present a concert of baroque music at 3:30 Sunday in room 101 of the Woodworth Center of Musical Studies. Admission is free.

Works by Monteverdi, Giles Farnaby, J.K.F. Fischer, Pietro degli Angheli, Handel and J.S. Bach are on the program, which features the music department's recently acquired Baroque harpsichord. Performers include faculty, graduate and undergraduate students.

GUITARIST TO PLAY Segovia's "Heli"

Andre Segovia said, "The classical guitar did not begin with me. It will end with me, either." He was thinking of the next man in line: John Williams, 21-year-old Australian guitarist.

Young Williams will make his Princeton debut with a concert in McCarter Theatre at 8:30 next Tuesday. For this concert, he has chosen three Sonatas by Scarlatti, a Prelude and Gavotte by Bach, three pieces from "The Three-Cornered Hat," by Falla, three Galliards by John Dowland, "Torre Bermeja," by Albeniz.

and works by Paganini, Torricelli, Tarrega and Gallelli.

Williams began to study the guitar at the age of seven, and became a Dutch Segovia when he was 11. He made his debut in Paris in 1960 and played in Madrid in 1961, the first recital ever to play in the Prado. He is a regular performer on the B.B.C.

PLANS SHAPE UP
For Christmas Opera, Humperdick's "Hansel and Gretel" will be presented during the Christmas season by the Princeton Opera Association in Princeton, Trenton and New Brunswick. Matinees are planned as that school children may attend. The Princeton Ballet Society will dance the "14 Angels" ballet and featured singers will be backed up by an eight-voice children's chorus.

While plans for the opera are in final stages, the Princeton Opera Association is seeking local residents interested in singing, helping with production or providing financial backing. Inquiries should be directed to Mrs. Frank F. Schrey 921-2148.

"Hansel and Gretel" was originally written for home performance by Humperdick's niece and nephew. His sister wrote the libretto. Expensive opera, it was first performed in public on December 23, 1893, at Weimar and became the first of a long series of fairy-tale operas.

TIPTON TO SING

At Lawrenceville, Clyde Tipton, bass, will give a preview of his Town Hall recital at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, November 17, at the Lawrenceville School. Thomas Uchtmann will accompany him.

The program includes the works of Bach, Dowland, Duparc, Webern, Goffins, Stravinsky and Charles Ives. Mr. Tipton was a winner in the American Concert Guild competition last year at Town Hall in New York City.

TO FEATURE LEADBELLY

At Folk Music Session, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mariah will give a program on Leadbelly with a special tribute to a meeting of the Princeton Folk Music Society in the conference room of Town Hall.

The public is welcome. The Mariahs are performers from the New Brunswick area.

TO HEAR EDDIE HATRAK

At Chapin School, pianist Eddie Hatrak will give a recital at 4:35 p.m. Friday, November 19 at the Chapin School. Parents and friends of the school are welcome.

Mr. Hatrak, a graduate of Juilliard and former musical director of the Erie-Knox television program, toured the country as pianist-conductor for vocalist Belle Baker. He took part in the movie "Atlantic City" and currently is a pianist, leader of his own band and a teacher. His appearance at the Chapin School is sponsored through a grant from the Recording Industries Music Performance Trust Fund.

News Of The CHURCHES

LECTURE SERIES SET
At Church of Christ, Robert A. Anderson, assistant professor of history at the University of Alabama at Huntsville, will conduct a lecture series entitled "The New Testament's Teachings on Salvation," beginning this Sunday at the Church of Christ. The public is invited to attend the lectures, to be held at the Shrine building on River Road. Mr. Anderson, a native of Detroit, is a graduate of David Lipscomb College and Mississippi State University. He preached for nine years at the Church of Christ, Knoxville, where he was assistant professor of religion at the University of Tennessee. He is a former chaplain with the Tennessee Air National Guard. The lectures are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. this Sunday, and at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday next week.

"EXTRA HANDS" ENROLL
In Plainsboro Project, about 15 Plainsboro women have begun an "experiment in practical help." They assist over-worked young mothers, take the elderly to the doctor's, delive nine casserole suppers needed; help newcomers and new mothers and do errands for the sick.

The project brain child of Mrs. Robert Britton and Mrs. John Hosterville, has been taken up by the members of the Monday Evening Women's Organization of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church.
"This is not a one - shot thing," Mrs. Britton says. When a woman is sick, and her ironing is piling up, she takes her children for a day to the ironing and whatever else we can."
Three women are on duty each month, with Mrs. Britton these - 1959-60 acting as the main switchboard. Each woman's children is looked after while she answers a call to assist someone in the community.
"We don't want to blow bubbles," Mrs. Britton says.
RYAN GRAY ELECTED
At All Saints' Chapel, K. Ryan Gray has been named wardens of All Saints' Chapel of Trinity Parish. He succeeds Harrison H. Young.
Also elected at Monday's congregational meeting were: Gilbert C. Turner, Treasurer, and John H. Howard, clerk. George H. Rothbauer will serve as deacon at the dissonant convention, with Julian Foster as alternative.

PLAN DAY OF SINGING
At Methodist Church, "A Great Day of Methodist Singing," sponsored by the (national) Fellowship of Methodist Musicians, will be observed every Sunday during the 11 a.m. worship service at Princeton Methodist Church.
The Rev. Dr. Leon W. Gibson, pastor, will conduct the service. There is an arrangement from the "Tre Deum" by Dr. Austin C. Lovelace. Robert L. Simpson is music director at the church and Mrs. William Baitlinger, Jr. is organist.
The sponsors hope to re-ignite a burning conviction, awareness of great statements of faith, and to bring focusing attention on the texts of great hymns.
STUDY HOUSING
For elderly, the possibilities for building low-to-middle income housing projects for the elderly are being studied by the Princeton Housing and Atlantic City and Montclair are under study by the Presbyterian Housing Commission, headquarters in Princeton. The Princeton Housing Commission operates facilities for the elderly for the Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey.
Dr. Ellis Willard, executive director of the planning and development committee is working on a state-wide plan. The housing projects would be non-sectarian and an attempt will be made to get Federal urban renewal funds.
Presbyterian Homes operates Meadow Lakes in Hightstown, a housing project and nursing care center for the elderly, and also has facilities in Belvidere and Haddonfield. It purchased the Orthopedic Hospital, Brunswick Avenue and Cavelle Street, Trenton, about a year ago, and plans to reopen the hospital as a nursing care center.

GOSPEL CHOIR TO SING
At Mt. Pisgah, The Gospel Choir of Wayne Avenue Baptist Church will give a concert at 3:30 this Sunday at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, Whippenburg Street. The public is welcome.
Funds raised will go to the Mt. Pisgah building fund.
Sunday makes "Rally Day" at the church, and the Rev. Albert Tyson Jr., pastor, will preach on the topic, "Divine Momentum," at the 11 a.m. service.

BULLETIN NOTES
Bible, Members of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church have a Bible Study at Dr. Cullen Story for use at the College of the Oaks. A total of $152.85 was raised.
Speakers, Peter B. Pulman will discuss the topic, "View From the Inside" at 11 this Sunday in the Unitarian Church of Princeton.
Bert Chamberlain will discuss his work at Trenton High School during the 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. Mr. Chamberlain is a member of Mission to Youth, an expanding organization to be supervised by a board of directors reporting to trustees of the New Brunswick Presbytery. Plans call for inclusion of Exeter, Princeton and South Brunswick High schools in the program, with Mr. Chamberlain as executive director.

Bazaar, The second annual Christmas Concert, sponsored by the Ladies Guild, will be held from 11 until 5 on Saturday, November 20, at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 2730 Princeton Pike. Mrs. Elaine Sorenson are co-chairmen. Articles for sale include gifts, baked goods, toys, and white elephant items.

Film Showing, "The Best is Silence," the German version of "Hush," will be presented at 8 p.m. on Saturday, November 20, at the Unitarian Church of Princeton, 485 West State Street. Donation is $1.

Cub Pack Founded, Boy Scout Cub Pack 84 has been organized by Kingston Presbyterian Church, with William Higerstorf as chairman of the pack committee and Joe Higerstorf as pack leader.

DAVID HUGHES, professor of music at Princeton Seminary, will lead the Ministry Choir in a service of sacred music at 11 Sunday in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. The public is welcome. During the past 18 summers, the choir has toured extensively in all 50 states, every Canadian province and Central and South America. Dr. James, a charter member of the Westminster Choir College, has directed the choir since 1954.
Joseph Petrosini as eubonist. Don mothers are Mrs. Nancy Kline, Mrs. C. W. Davall and Mrs. James McCallum.
Also serving on the pack committee are Donald Wolf, Eric M. Zopf, Zach Metz, Leslie Luck Jr. and George Luck Sr.

Church Tour, The Fall Tour of the Churches, sponsored by the Princeton Christian Unity Committee, visits Princeton Methodist Church at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 17. The Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson, pastor, will give a talk on the history and traditions of the Methodist denomination, followed by a brief Methodist worship service and discussion. All interested individuals are welcome.

A Study In Semantics Or What's In A Name?

Shall it be
"drug store"
or "Pharmacy?"

The word "drug" has an ounce which is hard to remove. In a "pharmacy" great effort is taken to improve one's image. An image is composed of a great number of features. Each line, mark, dot, etc. is important. But a single phase of it should not be overlooked. It is obviously the name by which we call our store is far from being a trivial matter. The names of a great number of medications and countries are euphonic, suggestive, enticing, descriptive, easy to remember. In weather forecasting we call "T.H.I." not "discounted" but "margin" in the food industry. "Margarine" comes from a Greek word meaning "white of bread".

"What's in a name?" The Thorne Pharmacy is your neighborhood pharmacy. Its name means a clean, modern, friendly, attractive display of nationally certified brands at lowest prices, personal service, full delivery and equitable prices.

FOR GRACIOUS LIVING
PRINCETON VIEW ESTATES, a new community of fine homes, invites you to inspect the houses presently under construction. This is the most desirable site one can imagine - located only a few minutes drive from Princeton, the gently rolling countryside providing a marvelous view, and bordering on one of the loveliest country clubs in central New Jersey.

IN ADDITION to the homes presently under construction there are plots available for those wishing to select their own individual designs. We have many beautiful styles and plans for your inspection, or you may submit your own plan to us. The same custom details and fine construction for which Princeton View has become so well known are incorporated in all our homes.

DIRECTIONS: Take Route 206 north from Princeton to the traffic light at the intersection of Route 518. Turn left, go 1 1/4 miles to Pine Brook Drive and turn left into Princeton View Estates.

Representative on the premises all day Saturday and Sunday, and can be reached daily from 8 AM to 6 PM at 609-448-4300.

News Of The THEATRES

"OUR TOWN" SCHEDULED
To Open PBS Theatre.
Theatrons Wilder's "Our Town," which had its world
premieres at McCarter Theatre, will enlighten the new Princeton Day School Theatre in an opening performance Thursday, November 18, at 8:30, presented by the Dramatic Club of PDS.
Subsequent performances
will be given Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20,
and Wednesday, November 24.
The Wednesday performance will be for alumni returning to Princeton for Thanksgiving.
Student guides will conduct tours of the building before each performance.

A. Munroe Wade is directing a cast which covers a wide range of ages and experience.
Arthur Lithgow, executive director of McCarter Theatre, will play the Stage Manager who narrates the events of the play.
Herbert McAnaney, head of the PDS Upper School, will portray Professor Willard and John McKenna, publicity director (for McCarter), will be Dr. Gibbs.

Stuart Duncan, a PDS parent, will play Mr. Webb. As synagogue at Princeton University in 1949, Mr. Duncan played the same part in the Miss Fine's School production "Our Town." In that 1949 offering, Mrs. Webb was played by Nellie Oliphant, who later became Mrs. Duncan.
The director in 1949 was Mrs.
Herbert McAnaney.

Other performers this year will be Anna Hughes (Mrs.
Gibbs), Mary Alderback (Mrs.
Webb), Jack Woodward (George Gibbs), Molly Hall
(Fanny Gibbs), Chris Rye
(Wally Webb), Susan Bonham (Emily Webb), Sergei Gily (Simmon Simmon), Marguerite Connor (Mrs. Soames), John McWilliams (Sam Craig) and Paul Rodianko (Joe Stockard).
Production chairman are Sylvia... (stage manager), Gail Good (scenery and stage crew), Ann Hurlbert (costumes), Hope Ross (Properties), Ann...

dra Hicks (lighting), Palenice Morgan (make-up), Leslie Loser (music and sound effects),
Pamela Erickson (program),
Mary Moore (house), Diane Lyness (tickets) and Sally Lane (publicity).

IBSEN, THEN CURTAIN
For Drama Series, "An Enemy of the People," Henrik Ibsen's ironic comedy about bourgeois hypocrisy, will be the fourth and final production of the fall season for the Mc-
Carter repertory company.
It will open this Saturday at 8:30 and will be presented again on Thursday and Friday, November 18 and 19. The final performance by the company will be "Major Barbara," on Saturday, November 20.

Arthur W. Lithgow, executive director of McCarter, is directing the Ibsen, working from a new translation by James McFarlane.

Ralph Drieshell, whom audiences have applauded for his performance of the devil in "Major Barbara" and the cook in "Mother Courage," will assume the leading role of Dr.
Stockman. Ann Gee Byrd, who will be "Major Barbara," will be his loyal wife Katherine, and Charlotte Glenn will be their daughter Petra. Nacio Siletti will be seen as Stockman's pompous brother, Peter.

Gregory Abels has been assigned the role of Billing, the journalist and Larry Laville will play Aslaksen, the printer.

TWO MIDNIGHTS
Next Two Weekends, This
Saturday midnight, it's Sandy
Bull and Hanna El Din at Mc-Carter. Next Friday midnight, it's Bonnie McGhee and Sunny Terry.

We've known about Sandy's
for some time now, but Hanna El Din decided only lately to join the fun. He comes from the part of Arabia that is now in the Sudan Republic and although he has studied Arabic and Italy, he spends most of his talent interpreting the folk music of Arabia.

He accompanies himself on the oud, an ancestor of both the lute and the mandolin.
"Visions of Arabia," the World Festival and the World's Fair have undoubtedly heard both oud and Hama.

Sandy Bull plays the Oud.

Starring Delirious. Two of Marlene Dietrich's most celebrated films, "Shanghai Express" and "Blonde Venus" are booked for the Woodrow Wilson Society film program, "Shanghai Express" will be shown at 10 p.m. this Thursday at Wilcox Hall. "Blonde Venus" will be given at 7:15 p.m. on Thursday, November 18. Admission is free and open to the entire community.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE
Bunny Lake Is Missing (now playing). Director Otto Preminger, who made "Anatomy of a Murder" some years ago, tries his hand again at a mystery film. This one concerns a young woman played by Carol Lynley, who reports to London police that her four-year-old daughter has been kidnapped. The abduction, she says, took place at a private school where she had left the child in an unsupervised playroom. The audience is slowly led to believe that the child may never have existed. Her clothes are missing from the apartment which her mother and uncle share. Her uncle played by Keir Dullea, droops hints that his sister is emotionally disturbed.

Curiously, the kidnapper is revealed in the middle of the film, presenting Premier with a sizeable challenge at sustaining the viewer's interest. The final sequence is harrowing: Miss Lynley plays childish games with the kidnapper in an effort to prevent him from killing her child.

Laurence Olivier appears as the suave inspector, a role notlets it show, Noel Coward and Marjorie Hunt are amusing as the alcoholic landlord and reluctant school teacher.

Along the way, one gets the feeling that a lot of people are being purposely denied to allow the story to spin out to its conclusion.

GIVE NOW, PAY LATER
And Support Scholarship.
What could be pleasanter than a Christmas gift you can't possibly arrange to pay for until after Christmas? We're not talking — please! — about those holiday bills you pay around Easter. You're on your own, where they are concerned.

No, indeed, we refer to the Princeton High School Scholarship Fund plan to give magazine subscriptions to friends, relatives, milkman and gardener. And of course, you can't pay for the subscription until you receive it or milkman has indicated which magazines he wants.

Here it is: as you know, the PHS at Princeton High School has had for many years, a magnificent scholarship program. Money comes from the sale of magazine subscriptions. You want to renew "Life," you send in renewal and check to the scholarship fund and a boy gets a boost on the road to becoming a doctor.

Incidentally, this continuing, year-round scholarship campaign has brought in more than $22,000 since 1951. Last year, the ladies raised $4,000 through their magazine subscription sales and awarded scholarships to 16 youngsters in the PHS class of '55. Of these 16, 12 are now enrolled.

In four-year college programs. One is studying nursing, another cosmetology, one boy is learning to be a commercial line pilot and another is mastering the intricacies of mail-machine operation.

Well, getting back to Christmas. The magazine subscription committee has prepared a sort of gift certificate which you mail out as you would a Christmas card.

On the certificate is a list of $3 and $4 magazines, a second list of $3, $4 and $5 magazines and — if you wish — an auxiliary list of $6-$10 magazines. Ask Uncle Joe to check the magazine he wants, for the magazine he wants, depending on your generosity, Uncle can even write in subscriptions to things like "Realities," "Fortune" or "American Heritage," if he thinks you're really in the cash.

The important thing is, you won't be billed by the subscription committee until the order has been received and processed, probably in January. Great for last-minute giving, as you can see, and equally good for "plan ahead" and "late shopping" types.

The list includes magazines like "Sports Illustrated," "Golf Digest," "Time," "Mechanics Illustrated," "Parents," "Saturday Evening Post," "Harper's" — complete. And as we say, you can always suggest write-ins.

You may obtain a certificate by calling Mrs. H.W. Levermore, 924-5681. And remember, it's a double gift: you give someone something he really wants, and you contribute to the education of a deserving boy or girl.

She becomes an insane killer. Her gruesome murders are shocking, and the camera becomes clinical.

The director, Roman Polanski, projects the viewer into the world of the schizophrenic with symbolism, with light and shadow, with sounds such as the ticking clock and a man leeching. It isn't clear until the end whether all the violence is real or a figment of the girl's imagination.

Miss Denver is brilliant as the girl. Fine performances are turned in by Yvonne Furness as the girl's sexy sister, Ian Hendry as her sinister lover, John Fraser, the genial young man who tries too hard to get a date with the girl, and Patrick Wymark the landlord who came at the wrong time for his rent.

Some people keep the same water in their pool for five or six years, he says.

A pool cover keeps out the autumn leaves and winter debris. It is also a safety factor, of course. It fastens securely over the pool and is built to withstand the weight of several adults.

MAKE MINK MINK

Risk On, Mr. Lumb! When you buy a fur coat or a fur piece directly from the man who designed it, helped you choose the skins and sewed the skins together, you save money, and with an invaluable key for any money you save is worth saving.

That's the idea behind Princeton Fur, a shop on Waterspoon Street, across from the new public library where you may buy new furs or have your old furs put back together again.

The day we were there, a customer was confering with John Alexander, owner, designer and furrer, about the reconstruction of a 17-year-old beaver coat. Still perfectly good. Still well. The customer wanted something more up to date. And she'll have it, too, after she and Mr. Alexander have agreed on a design, and Mr. A. and his wife Nina have carefully removed the skins and installed a warm and handsome new lining.

Another customer had been talking with Mr. Alexander about a new mink coat, and the skins were still fanned out on the floor where customer and mink were having been examining them to see just which one would be best for the kind of coat the woman had in mind.

A veteran of 30 years as a fur designer and furrer, Mr. Alexander has worked for Turk Tucker, Royal Mink and Carolina Furs. He is a firm believer in customs - made fur garments.

He likes to see a woman walk out of his shop in her new coat with sleeves precisely the right length, shoulders exactly as wide as they should be for that particular woman, length of coat absolutely correct, and this is especially important if the coat is three-quarters or seven-eighths. Wrong proportion, and length to wearer's height, can be very wrong indeed.

Well, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are affectionately partial to mink, and who isn't? They have made several "small" pieces for you to buy right off the table.

Fresh Fish!

Fish at Renwick's these days are so fresh you have to brush off the seaweed before you take a bite.

Bluefish and sea bass, they are, straight up from the Jersey shore. Harold Ostroff the Renwick man, goes fishing early weekend and brings back his catch to Renwick's chef.

This kind of activity might well be called a "holby for fun and profit," the profit equally divided between Mr. Ostroff and the customers who devour all that fresh fish.

group of boys, lets and slings for example, starting at $50 for a female box (female mink skins are slightly narrower than male) in Autumn 1946, French, Tourmaline, Russ are a single skin. Lets are a twin of three skins, both are versatile indeed.

Wear a box, for example, as a folded ascot, a draped hat or a fur necktie. Slip it down over an evening gown and make a fur-turged decolletage.

A shug is more practical than the old-fashioned stole, chiefly because you can keep it on, and its contour makes it trim and becoming. Curving gently around the shoulders, and staying where it's put, a shug is equally effective with suit or cocktail dress.

A Silverblue fur shug, full and more of a garment, from the nature of the fur, is surer with a basic black dress. That's the way the Alexanders show it on their model.

You'll find in the shop delicious little fur dome hats, and red-made mink jacket for $375. A Persian lamb coat, full length, with deep shawl mink collar, is $725.

And if you can forget mink stroke the softness of a teen-age coat made of Tuscany.

Math Building Undeatable.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Some concern has been expressed lately about the plans of Princeton University for new buildings, and particularly a 13-story Mathematics Tower. One aspect of this controversy has not been brought out in public: perhaps it is not an insignificant one.

To my knowledge, none of those whom I consider as mathematicians at Princeton University wants this building. Some are in vehement but implicit opposition to it. Their wish is to stay in Fine Hall where they are.

They have expressed their views to their Administration. As a mathematician, I concur with their opinions that no building can do nothing for what we call mathematics. It might be detrimental to it.

That my friends have not come out to say so in public seems to be a case of mistaken loyalty. I should have preferred them to speak out, but since they don't, I do.

Thanks from UNICEF.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
On behalf of the UNICEF committee of Princeton, I would like to thank all the generous people in this community who contributed over $16,300. An exact figure can't be given now, for some cartons have not been returned. Cartons should be returned immediately to Male's Book Shop.

In particular, I would like to thank the newspapers for their publicity, the schools for showing a filmstrip and distributing permission slips, Mr. Donald Barr for the distribution of cartons at the Hallows-on party, Mrs. Edwards for distributing cartons at Sicular School, Mrs. Leslie Vivian and her girl scout troop for assembling cartons, Mrs. Raymond Male for being our advisor, and the many teenagers who helped as block and area captains.

Complimented Hallows-on?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I wonder what hope we can have for the future of Princeton if the Borough and Township authorities can't even agree upon which night to celebrate Hallows-on? I wonder too if we don't appear a little ridiculous to our children in our disagreements.

It seems a shame that, with all the diversion in the world, our children must be growing up in a community which continually seeks to perpetuate the diversions within itself. Couldn't they at least have their fun together?

"Hundreds" Still Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The fact that the Princeton Water Company has announced its decision to fluoridate the public water supply does not alter the fact that there are hundreds of its customers who oppose this move. These people wish neither to cook with nor to drink fluoridated water.

Some have been advised by their doctors not to do so. It will, unfortunately, be necessary for them to buy unfluoridated water and to rearrange their budgets to include this considerable expense. Suppliers who handle bottled spring or well water report a brisk business and more inquiries daily.

In the meantime, in New York, those opposed to compulsory fluoridation are continuing their battle. In this connection a letter written to a Princeton resident by Dr. Simon A. Beiser, Chief of Urology at Brody's Hospital, New York City on October 25 is pertinent. Dr. Beiser has given his permission to quote the letter.

"So many requests re the problem of fluoridation have come that I do not have the time I would like to devote to it. There are so many things to say that I will briefly touch the more important ones."

1. At first it was claimed that the use of fluorides reduced dental decay by 60% when used to age 14. Later it was reduced to 32, then 10.

2. It is impossible to maintain the fluoride content in a communal water supply at one part per million. Supplies tested around this country have varied from none to well above the so-called safe limit of one part per million.

3. The appropriate dose administered orally as a tablet or drop preparation would limit it to the children. Proponents of fluoridation stated they could not rely on parents to administer it. If parents won't do this, they certainly would not do it if their children would drink five to six glasses of water a day.

4. It was at first claimed that 90% of the ingested fluoride was eliminated from the body through the urine. The rest was supposed to be deposited in elements of the teeth and bone. They now admit only 40% is eliminated from the body. Now we hear from researchers in India, Italy and Japan that fluoride is deposited in every organ of the body and that the amount varies in.

5. Apparently allergies are one of the more common and early manifestations of fluoride toxicity. They have been proven by withdrawal of fluoride treated water and having them later re-appear on the administration of a known dose by mouth.

6. There is no doubt in my mind that this problem has not been thoroughly researched in this country. Many other things have to be left unsaid.

"Ten Years from Now . . ."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The news the Water Co. has decided to fluoridate our water is very bad news indeed. It is bad news for those who oppose fluoridation, obviously, but it is also bad news for everyone, especially for the doctors and dentists who by taking us on this risky venture must bear the blame for its outcome.

I would judge from reading last week's Town Topics that the members of the board of the Water Co. voted as they did because:

1. They find that they are legally in the clear.

2. A majority of medical professionals support fluoridation.

Now if their lawyers are right, and the Water Co. can not be prosecuted if the sodium fluoride they put in our water hurts someone drinking it, then I say they are lucky. They are morally responsible, though, and no one can advise them that they are not.

The second point bothers me more. The safety of fluoridation is a scientific question, not a political one. Majorities are beside the point here. The question is: is fluoridation safe? It is not a matter of votes or weight of evidence. It is a matter of proof — fluoridation must be proven safe. It has not been proven safe.

Besides, there is plenty of perfectly reasonable scientific opinion against fluoridation. For example, Dr. Berger's letter in last week's Town Topics. Or the letter in a recent issue of Saturday Review from Dr. Alfred Taylor of the University of Texas, relating the results of tests he has conducted which demonstrate that low-level feeding of sodium fluoride accelerates cancer growth in mice.

There are hundreds of other examples. Maybe these men are all wrong, but how on earth can we disregard them?

Doesn't the Water Co. consider these things? Or do you know about them? Are we so gripped and frantic with the great evil-hunt that we have not time to settle this question properly?

Time cannot "heal all wounds" in this case. Ten years from now this fluoridation hysteria will gain the aspect of a negative extra-gastric therapy by X-rays and antibiotics. There will be a lot of red faces and lame excuses, but who will make good the damage?

STATE LOTTERY ODDS: FAVORABLE: In discussing the possibility of a state lottery, Pete Canlu (left) and Jim Britton point out, as many others have, that if gambling exists, why not take advantage of it and make some revenue out of it. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Governor Hughes has said he would not be opposed to a referendum providing for a state lottery, the proceeds to be used for educational purposes. Would you be in favor of such a lottery?

Where asked: Nassau Street
Peter Canlu, 48 Jefferson Road, purchasing department, 1931, Dayton: I'd be for that. They got a lot of revenue out of the Irish Sweepstakes and I don't see why it couldn't be done here. If gambling exists — they don't seem to be able to clean it up — it might as well be done legally and obtain revenue from it. They're doing it in New Hampshire and getting a lot of money from it.

James Britton, Princeton Junction, greens superintendent, Cranbury Golf Club: I feel the same as Pete. Gambling exists. People like to gamble. It's virtually impossible to stop, so why not take advantage of this desire to gamble channel. If people are going to gamble, we might as well channel. As profits for educational purposes.

—Mrs. Anthony Morillo, 392 Mt. Lucas Road, housewife: My husband is a graduate student and so, of course, I'm in favor of it. We will always need more money for education.
Brian Dendle, Haley Street graduate student, Spanish: I'd be in favor of such a lottery. Such lotteries seem to work in other countries like France and Spain and New Jersey certainly needs to get more money from somewhere.
Wilfene Taylor, 260 Nassau Street, bookkeeping instructor: In principle, I'd be for it — just to keep away from a sales tax which is a big pain in the neck. If it's for education, fine.
Mrs. Elaine H. Dunkin,

Spurge Street, associated with the Gallup organization: I approve of such a lottery under highly controlled conditions. That is, perhaps under strict and thoughtful administration by the state internal revenue department when and if we have a state income tax. There are three things to consider with a lottery: its moral implications — whether it's right or wrong; its economic implications — how much will it raise; and the way it is run — must be kept free from corruption. If they administered it in conjunction with the state revenue agency, it would be as corrupt or free from corruption as the state revenue agency. The only other alternative that seems healthy on a long — range basis would be the purchase of bonds or certificates through banks as an organization has proposed in New York. The holder of these non-accruing interest bonds would be randomly and periodically selected as winners. The holder can always cash his bond and get exactly what he paid for it. The longer he holds on to it, though, the more chance he has of being a winner. The interest the bonds earn is divided between the banks and the state, the state getting the most, with the rest used as prize money.

Alan Fort, 154 Nassau Street, manager of P. J.'s Pancake House: I think it would be a good idea; it would give the people something to look forward to. I'd love to win something like that! The money they are putting in is something which will go toward a worthwhile aim, and realizing this, I feel most people won't mind participating.

Graphic at Gallery 100. A fine showing of woodcuts by Severin Meyer and serigraphs by Robert Burkert will open this Sunday and will continue through November 28th at Gallery 100.

Severo Meyer, Cantonese by birth, came to the United States in 1931 and has been involved in the world of art ever since. A prodigious worker, he has been noted as talented in the fields of sculpture, etching, painting and graphic arts. He has received a fantastic number of scholarships, fellowships and awards which have furthered his experimentation and his growth in the world of art. At the University of Minnesota, at Vassar and Smith Colleges, Pratt Institute and NYU, and at present holds classes at the New York Union, Columbia, and the Art Student's League as well as running his own art school in Princeton during the summer.

"Earlier Style." On view are woodcuts from two distinct periods of his development. The earlier approach is familiar in many of his various works. It involves brilliant color and violent movement as seen in "Pi Pi Pi Pi Pi Pi" and "The Little 500." The combination creates a stirring effect.

"Sonic Rain" would appear to mark the start of transition into the later, less flamboyant style. Severe and strong in composition, it has a wonderful feeling of violence still. The rain is torrential, though it is basically black and white with a smudge of brilliant color. But how that one note colors and makes it a picture!

"Later Style." Recently, Severin Meyer claims he is "more concerned with contemplation than with the romantic accident in nature," and the woodcuts of this period prove his point. They are Oriental in flavor, the composition is lazier, the tones are subdued, and they are reflective pictures. One's imagination may play by itself among the textures and possible connotations of something like "Timeless Impulse."

Robert Burkert, in deliberate contrast to all of Seong Moy's work are the serigraphs of Robert Burkert, a younger, more recent arrival on the art scene. A Mid-Westerner, his whole life, education and career have been spent in Wisconsin, but in the past decade he has received a warm, deserved recognition, nationwide. Presently he is concentrating on a series of serigraphs which make up "an atmospheric folio of the months of May." The prints from this folio bear the greatest interest to us. The mid-western landscape is in character; the atmosphere is thick with descriptive power. Mr. Burkert is indeed sensitive to his natural climate and in the past a way of working, abstractly and primarily in color. First, building transparent layers of colors and then layering down opaque linear "talks" he achieves a translucent quality in his atmosphere. "December Woods," also the last of its edition, has a remarkable sense of evening with the moisture rising towards a fading sun and a cold flurry of trees rising from a cold wet snow. "January Haze" brings out winter again, "Lowly" and "Enchanting" through an opaque mist. "Heat Lapping" and "August Island" contain more color and fully as much individual mood.

Art at McCarter Theatre. The Art of Printmaking, in the first month McCarter Theatre exhibit to be sponsored by the Princeton Art Association this year. Through November, there will be a show compiled from the Philadelphia Print Club and contributing artists and covering varied approaches to the techniques of print-making to day.

Among the exhibits are old favorites of well-known artists. Jacob Lawrence's "Woodcut Way," Stefan Marz's wood engraving "Forest," and one of Norio Azuma's art serigraphs entitled "The Town." Helen Seidl's delightful make-believe plaster-cut of "Saffron Seidl" gives the show a spark of gaiety. Carol Stoddard exhibits a strong "woody" woodcut in color, "Turkish Fortress" and Gillett Griffin shows an unfilled landscape in kind of aerial portrait, along with its incisive play which make an interesting exhibit.

Related Lecture. In conjunction with this month's show, there will be an illustrated talk, "Aesthetic Realism in Printmaking," by Chiam Koppelman, President of the Society of American Graphic Artists and Head of the Printmaking Department of the School of Visual Arts in New York City.

The lecture will take place on Wednesday evening, November 17, at 8:30 p.m. at the Princeton Art Association, 14 Nassau Street, and is open to members and guests for a $1 admission fee.

PEOPLE In The News

COAN FOR COLLECTOR

People Are Wonderful. Why should I vote for a woman for tax collector?

"I rang this man's doorbell," recalled Marie Coan this week in a post-election chat. "But that was the last I saw of him. I said, 'Well, women control 86% of the country's wealth. They have the purchasing power, they own the corporations and And I said, 'All right, but why should I vote for you?' and I said, 'Because I want to be the first woman tax collector in the history of the Borough of Princeton.' 'You've got my vote,' he said."

Mrs. Marie Coan is a minority winner on two counts: she is the only Democrat, Borough or Township, in this election. She is the first woman in Borough history in a quarter of a century.

"People were so wonderful to me," she mused, describing her campaign. "I rang almost every doorbell in the Borough because I don't think voters should be expected to vote for someone who never even doorbell-rings let alone for me because of my great love for you people, and you know, I only had one rebuttal. People were so gracious!"

She laughed at one encounter. "I went straight down the voter registration lists — I never knew whether I was running as a Republican doorbell or a Democratic one, because I knew I had to have Republican votes to win. Well, one doorbell was the Republican Committeewoman for that district, and I was rather embarrassed . . ."

People Helped Me. "But I didn't do it alone," she adds modestly. "All the wonderful people who helped me and who sent out cards to their friends, I couldn't have won without all that support." A member of the Princeton Democratic Club since the early '50s, Mrs. Coan first ran for office (tax collector) in 1963. "I lost but I carried my own District Four," she says with pride.

As tax collector, she will work part-time, as overseer to the department, making sure bills go out on time, and so on. "After I get my feet wet," as she puts it, "I plan to take a course given at Rutgers for tax collectors."

Always interested in politics, she reads biography avidly and books that describe "how the country is run." "I'm a last-page reader of mystery stories because I just haven't time to read the whole book. In fact, there isn't."

Person To Person

The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety issued these interesting results of an extensive study: If you drive 35 MPH for 50 miles on a road that's posted for 60 MPH, in the whole 50 miles you save only 4 minutes. By following too closely (tigh on the list of accident causes) you save no time at all unless you want to figure fractions of seconds.

Another team of investigators report that in a greater number of accidents than has heretofore been revealed in official reports, the main cause has been defective car parts or negligent repairs. We feel that this kind of information should get in publicity for everyone's benefit, don't you? May we also state that our service department is extremely careful, prompt, and economical. See our car values right now!

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE...

Mrs. Wilson Coan is the new Borough tax collector, only Democrat elected to office in Princeton in '65, first woman elected in the Borough in a generation. Story this page.

...at home time for anyone, not enough time for laughing, or working or even ironing shirts."

Mother of two (Mary, sophomore at Stuart Country Day and Elizabeth, a second grader at St. Paul's), Mrs. Coan is also the "mother" of young David, Mr. Coan's orphaned nephew, now a sophomore at La Salle University in Philadelphia.

But that isn't all she's on the board of the Friends of the Public Library and the Mercer County Mental Health Association, the Red Cross and St. Paul's P.T.A.

"One night I was in the kitchen frying pork chops for supper and the phone rang and it was Mayor Patterson," Mrs. Coan smiles at this bipartisan communication. "He asked me to be the Borough representative to the city's council literature committee. I have great respect and admiration for the mayor, and I said of course, I'd be happy to accept."

The Coan family is used to having pork chops pushed to the back of the stove. "My family is so wonderful about my activities — helpful in every way they can be." As a state employee (Department of Institutions and Agencies), Mrs. Coan is not able to help his wife completely in election campaigns, but the moral support is there, every time of the year.

Benson C. Sargent, son of Mrs. Blenda C. Sargent, 10 Bayard Lane, has been assigned to the U.S. Army Transportation Engineering Agency at Fort Belvoir, Va. A graduate of Bradford Academy in Vermont and holder of a bachelor of science degree from Norwich University in Vermont, he is working as a highway traffic engineer in the agency.

Richard W. Borden of Dutch Neck has been named to the staff of Popular Science Monthly where he will help expand the magazine's coverage of home improvement projects, woodworking skills and work shop practices. Mr. Borden most recently was associate editor of "Popular Boating."

George A. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weed, 560 Fisher Place, Penna. Neck, has been promoted to alumn second class. Stationed at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho, he is a member of the Strategic Air Command.

SPORTS In Princeton

SEVEN WON, TWO TO GO
Yale May Be Tough. A Yale coach who announced when he took the job last spring that "Our one big objective this year is to beat Princeton" will bring a steadily improving Ell eleven into Palmer Stadium Saturday. Upwards of 40,000 will be on hand for the occasion, with tickets still available for the biennial visit of the Blue.
Not since a Yale team went 9-for-9 in 1960 has the Bulldogs managed to top the Tiger. It was a year before that that the Ells last won in Palmer Stadium, but if they manage to win Princeton's victory string at 10-6 on Saturday, all of the frustrations of the past will be forgotten in the moment of triumph.

While ability to play at home will offset some of the pressure building each week on the Tigers, they will go into the game with the need to prove that they can move the ball with as much ease as the Senior Bob Bedell, the 186-lb. back who took hold so well at the start of the season, ruptured a kidney in the Harvard game.
Bedell remained in a Boston hospital until midweek and definitely will not see action against Yale. Chances that he will play against Dartmouth are no better than even.

Taking his place will be Chuck Peters, a junior who has shown in occasional action this fall that his blocking is above average despite the fact that he is upwards of 20 pounds lighter than Bedell. The adjustment that will have to be made lies in such factors as the rhythm of the precise movements that set each play in motion, the familiarly played runs and takes, often in handoffs and fakes, and the knowledge that a key player is missing for the biggest game of the season so far.

Yale Better Than Expected. When Carmen Cozza moved into John Pont's job as head coach at New Haven last spring, following Pont's departure for Indiana just two years after he had arrived on the scene, the Ells surveyed the situation somewhat ruefully. They lost 23 games, had undergone virtually a complete coaching changeover for the second time in many years and were rated a scant fourth of a first-division Ivy finish.

The start of the campaign supported their worst fears.

QUICK LOOK AT YALE
OFFENSE: Ground game improving steadily. Good outside speed. Passing unpredictable.
DEFENSE: Has not been impressive overall but is bolstered by a few stand-out players.
CHIEF ASSET: Medical apparatus and high morale, buoyed by improving performance as season progresses.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Once again, lacks a standard quarterback. Several promising shows of depth.
TYPE OF ATTACK: T with ball, but not a great deal of passing. Just generally in motion.

Upset? The Trick Is a Yale Specialty

The hundreds of Yale alumni who live in the Princeton area, and the thousands more who will descend on Palmer Stadium Saturday have good reason to hope that their underdog Bulldogs may achieve an upset that would bring the Tigers' 16-game winning streak to an end. History records the fact that Yale football teams, entering the game here on the short end of the odds, have frequently gone home with a major share of the bacon.
The most famous upset, of course, was that perpetrated against another unbeaten Princeton team in 1934 — one that was riding a 15-game winning streak and was considered a prohibitive favorite to make it two perfect seasons in a row. Exactly 11 players saw action for the Blue that chilly, cloudless afternoon as Jerry Roscoe passed to Larry Kelley for the game's only score.

It was only two years later that another short-odds Ell team, with Kelley now a senior and All-American star Frank in the backfield, gave up the first 16 points to the Tigers and then came charging back to win 26-23. In those days, seven touchdowns, almost equally divided, were a football rarity.

Seventeen years later — in 1953 — a game that was virtually a carbon copy of the 1930 contest was staged, with the Ells again yielding two TD's and a field goal before they got on the scoreboard. From a 17-0 halftime deficit, they roared back to win, with 24 seconds left on the clock. The decisive score was set up by a 40-yard pass to Larry Rhea, a 5-8 sprinter on the back team who had been seen by the Ells scoring for less than two weeks. The outcome ended a string of six straight Princeton victories that the late Charlie Caldwell had engineered over the Blue.

In 1957, a Princeton eleven that had its sights set on the Ivy title was 20-to-13 victim of an underdog contingent from New Haven. End Mike Cavallo caught three scoring passes from Dick Winterbauer for an Ivy record that still stands today.

Ivy League Forecast

Harvard over Brown. Hall not enough.

For the first time in its rivalry with Connecticut, Yale lost, and this was followed by a defeat by Colgate, a slim 3-0 triumph over Brown and a solid 21-7 setback at the hands of perennial weak Columbia.

Somewhat surprisingly, the upset was turned in late October, with a victory over Cornell, a fine showing against Dartmouth that very nearly produced a major upset, and, last Saturday, a 21-19 triumph over Penn. In the process of rebuilding, Yale has sorted out its three quarterbacks, and in its last three satisfactory showings has gone with senior Walls Humphrey.

A joyce for the past two seasons, Humphrey went into the Penn game with a pass completion average of better than 50% but against the Quakers, connected on only four of 15 for 48 yards. If he begins to hit regularly against Princeton, the Tigers may be in for trouble.

The veteran Jim Graulinger, a 198-lb. senior, starts at right half for the Blue, while the other halfbacks are Court Shevelson, a 148-lb sophomore who has reminded Eli followers of the late Albie Booth. He ran the opening kickoff back 22 yards for a TD against Cornell — after the Ithacans had elected to kick on the theory that the Elis couldn't move the ball.

A 165-lb. sophomore, Don Barrows, provides Yale's inside running and his starting assignment, together with Shevchuk and the inexperienced Humphrey, are a reflection of the extent to which Yale is rebuilding in 1963. The Elis line is not particularly big — four of the starters are under 300 — but it has helped the inexperienced backs score two touchdowns against Dartmouth and three against Cornell and Penn.

Bedell's loss will be a problem for The Tigers, at least until they learn how well they can operate without him. If it rains, the game would be up for grabs, since a wet ball would nullify Ron Landeck's passing, which is easily Princeton's most dangerous weapon. In the slim 14-6 victory over Harvard, the Crimson outdistanced its conquerors on the ground, 176 to 124, but the Tiger tailback's 15 pass completions kept Princeton two touchdowns drives in motion. He now is within 288 yards of breaking Dick Karmali's record for total offense in a single season, a figure he could surpass with a superlative performance against Yale and almost certainly will break before the end of the game against Dartmouth.

TIGERS ALMOST UNDONE

By Their Own Errors. It will be another two years before Princeton has to play again in the cavernous confines of Harvard Stadium. When the Tigers return, it will be under pressure of the knowledge that a decade will have passed since they last played a good game of football there.

In one sense, of course, it is to their credit that they won by eight points in a "must" game — a game in which their opponents wanted victory more than any other contest on the schedule. But with a few notable exceptions, about all they did well was to win.

It is not that victory by eight points is insufficient; one would have sufficed to keep the team undefeated and tied with Dartmouth atop the Ivy standings. The question, rather, is whether the degree to which they bent under pressure will be repeated in the two remaining games on their schedule — one, certainly, and very possibly both, to be played against teams that are superior to Harvard.

When, for example, has a Princeton team last had a scoring drive extinguished by three back-to-back 15-yard penalties?

When has an opponent last been virtually assured of a touchdown by a Princeton penalty for holding on a fourth-down incomplete pass — a mistake that gave Harvard the ball on the Tigers' 12 instead of Princeton the ball on its 28?

When has Princeton last been offside on an opponent's two-yard line and, two plays later, fumbled on the goal line?

Landeck the Difference. With the normally prolific running game hobbled by factors ranging from Bedell's injury to Harvard's ability to defend the single wing, it took another great performance by Ron Landeck to bail the Tigers out. Of his 15 completions, 11 were to end Lauson Cashdollar, and both were records: the 15 high for a Princeton player in Ivy action, the 11 tops for the entire league in a single game.

Possibly symbolic of the perennial troubles the Tigers have at Cambridge, Charlie Gogolak's first field goal attempt from 48 yards out hit the crossbar and bounced back. Almost immediately thereafter, however, halfback Doug James intercepted a Harvard pass and the Tigers went 30 yards in half a dozen plays to make it 7-0.

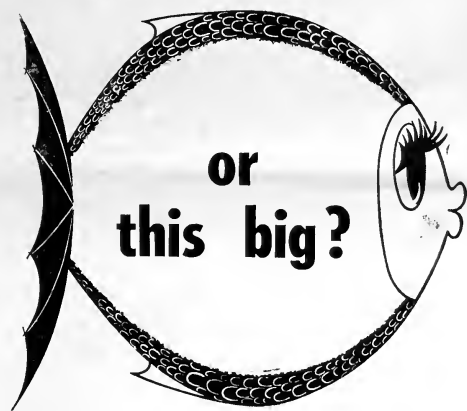

Their only other touchdown came on a 66-yard march just before the second quarter ended. Landeck, at one point completing five consecutive passes, He took the ball over himself on an end run from two yards out, and when Charlie Gogolak made it 14-0 this 44th straight conversion tying brother Peir's NCAA record, went into the dressing room with the game apparently under control.

Not so. Harvard dominated most of the third period, making 10 yards over Gopolak's second placement attempt was wide from 42 yards out. The TD that kept the pressure on for the balance of the game.

Tigers' Defense Sags. Further cause for concern in the upcoming games was contributed by Harvard's ability to run around — and occasionally through — the Princeton line despite the fact that its passing threat was virtually non-existent. With halfbacks Bobby Lee and Wally Grant, and occasionally fullback Tom Choquette carrying the Crimson sledge up the Tiger defense consistently on this drive — although it did take the fourth-down penalty on an incomplete pass to keep Harvard in possession.

The p.a. was missed, making a 14-all tie resulting in the worst fate the Tigers could have suffered, had they scored once more and then achieved a two-point conversion. Actually, the Crimson never came closer than 35 yards to another TD. Princeton's goal line in the final period only to lose the ball when Bert Kerstetter fumbled at the goal line.

It was not until 2:30 was left in the game that the lions completed their first pass of the afternoon. Against a performance like that, only a hat, full of Princeton mistakes could keep the score as low as 14 to 6, and the Tigers go into their final game against Yale and Dartmouth with the knowledge that a similar performance will mean their first defeat since 1963.

PIS vs. NOTRE DAME. After 17-13 St. Ignace Win. The Princeton High School football team 5-2, will win with long scoring runs by Notre Dame and an almost-but-not-quite comeback by PIS. Princeton played one of its finest games of the season before losing, 26-20, in a team which went on to win seven of nine, losing one and tying one.

This season, Wall Porter's Irish started strong, winning their first three. Then they lost a pair in its last start. Notre Dame looked unimpressive in defeating Exeter 14-10. In all, the victors were held to 16 yards rushing and 42 yards passing. They completed only two of seven aerials.

Come via graduation is the renowned XD backfield led by the heralded Ken Zakowski which flattened the opposition. Notre Dame's attack in entered around one person, Wayne Coccicelli, a good running fullback. "He is dangerous," observed Coach Wood.

PROPERTY

AGGRESSIVE STANDOUT Against St. Ignace Saturday, Ed Melken, PIS 156-lb. wingback, played his finest effort. PIS coach Dick Wood

praised games than it loses this fall. That pleasant outcome was assured Saturday when the Little Tigers defeated visiting St. Ignace, 17-13, in a hard-fought battle between two evenly-matched teams. The difference was in the accuracy of Craig Wood and Keith Conover. Wood booted both extra points and Conover kicked his second field goal as many weeks, giving him a perfect 2-for-2 in this department.

With that unexpected triumph over Woodbury two weeks ago, followed by last week's St. Ignace victory and the certainty of a winning season, if PIS coach Dick Wood could be granted three wishes in a row it would have to be a win over Notre Dame. The two will meet for the second time Saturday at 2 on the Irish's field.

Let your inaugural was a truly exciting game, interlarded films." He added that he and defensive coach Jerry Groninger had not yet decided who would fish Stewart's shoes as linebacker.

Another outstanding line-man, tackle Carl DeCavallone will probably not play Saturday and quite possibly in through for the season. A chronic knee injury was battered again Saturday, forcing Carl's departure, and Wood reported that his leg "looked pretty bad."

Their loss will be balanced by the return of two secondary defensive standouts, Jeff Bullock and Huston Webber. Both were sidelined for the St. Ignace contest as a result of injuries received in the busy game. Bullock has recovered.

WOOD FOR 20 YARDS: PIS tailback Bill Cirullo is about to be felled by what appears to be a karate chop from a St. Ignace tackler, after a run of 20 yards from the 50 to the 30-yard line. His gain was the largest in a 65-yard scoring march in the third quarter.

Wood went on to remark that ND operates a lot wider than other teams and that Princeton would set its defense a little differently but that he planned nothing new offensively. "I think we have a good chance of evening the series," he said. "We're looking forward to it."

STEWART FINISHED. The Little Tigers will face ND minus the services of their fine center and co-captain, Rich Stewart, who was perhaps most invulnerable as a line backer. A shoulder separation ended his playing.

"It really hurt us in the St. Ignace game when he went out," said Wood. "You could see the difference in the game ered from a mild concussion and Webber from a muscle pull from the ribs.

No Mistakes. The Little Tigers won Saturday primarily because they made virtually no costly mistakes — not one fumble, not one yard in penalties — and because of the accurate kicking of Craig Wood. Wood made both conversions, and Keith Conover, who booted a 28-yard field goal, both teams compiled 14 first downs and were close in run-back yardage, 187 to 162, with PHS on top.

The importance of Conover's field goal cannot be overlooked. True, PHS would have won without it, but its psychological importance was undeniable. It came with 5:33 to go in the first period, the first points of the game, and the first of a couple of the foot means that should Steiner's Little Tigers score for score—which the Spartans subsequently did — it was still going to lose.

The Spartans, seeking their fourth win, took a short-lived 6-3 lead, when they drove 55 yards to score. After reaching the four, first-and-goal, they were held in check by the Little Tigers. But later, before Leroy Morris bucked over to dash a "one more time" plea from a spectator on the sidelines.

PHS regained the lead by marching 77 yards in 11 plays. Key man in the drive was Ed McEwen. On a fourth and 15 situation with 1:38 to go, he kept the drive alive by getting the first down on a quasi statue-of-liberty and hand-off.

He then passed to end Tom Wood for a first down on 38. After two long "bombs" were off target, McEwen took a short pass from Bill Cirullo over the center, cut left and scored. The play, coming with 38 seconds to go, covered 31 yards.

At the start of the second half, the Little Tigers used up all but four minutes of the third quarter by taking the opening kickoff and marching 65 yards, this time in 13 plays. This was accomplished by power plays on the ground, featuring the running of fullbacks Craig Beaschell and Low

Our Man Is At It Again

Bill Bradley, now in his first term at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, is finding time to play in the basketball championship games which will determine the winner of the European Cup to an Italian team, Simmenthal of Milan, has obtained his services and is flying him for each contest to the site of the action, the first time in Garmisch, Germany.

Time being something of a problem, Bill had no chance to work with his new teammates before the first game against Gleason. The result: Bradley led both teams with 31 points and Simmenthal won, 82 to 77.

Elsewhere in England and on the Continent, there is a note of sadness. According to TOWN TOPICS' foreign correspondent, once Bradley chooses to play for any team in Europe, he is automatically barred from playing for any other — even at the next amateur level of amateur action.

Balesfieri up the middle and the outside gallop of Cirullo Balesfieri capped the drive, hanging over from the two in two carries.

SATURDAY IS "TAG DAY"
For Midget Footballers. Members of the Princeton Midget Football League, some 60 strong, will go forth Saturday morning between 8:30 and noon, knocking on doors in an attempt to raise money to buy needed equipment.

Saturday's "Tag Day" campaign is being directed by Edward Hanna, Ross Word and Donald Blatter. Should a PAFL fail to visit your home on Saturday, contributions to the League may be mailed to John Budd, 214 Western Way.

Next year, the League hopes to be able to uniform and equip 100 boys between 9 and 13 and divide them into equally matched teams. To do this, the League will have to raise $4000, according to Commissioner Cosmo Lazarus. Sandy Reynolds, president. At present, a committee of parents under the guidance of Philip Cobb, Frank Tylus, Edward Martin, Kenneth Sienk and Hanna are endeavoring to raise funds from various sources.

The current squad of 65 boys is in the midst of a schedule of five intermural town contests. Tied for first place with one win and three ties are Budd's Giants and Peter Budd's Jets. Next are the Sagittas, coached by Russ Perone, while John Sapich's Packers are still winless.

DAY SCHOOL WINS

In Football and Soccer, Bill Rigot scored twice for the Princeton Day School football team in the Blue and White trophy the Hun junior varsity, 20 to 6, recording its third victory in five games.

Rigot tallied on end runs of 11 and 8 yards, the other touchdown going to fullback Sandy Wandell on a 5-yard run. Bob Reynolds passed to Dick Ross and John Claghorn for the touchdowns.

The PDS soccer team blanked Hun, 2-0, Jon Verleen and Tom Garland scoring the latter on a penalty kick. Verleen also scored for PDS in a late tie with the Princeton High School freshmen.

LAWSON THE VICTOR

In Carriage Sailing, Jerry Lawson won the regatta staged for 14-foot sloops by the Carriage Sailing Club Sunday afternoon. He completed 8.5 points.

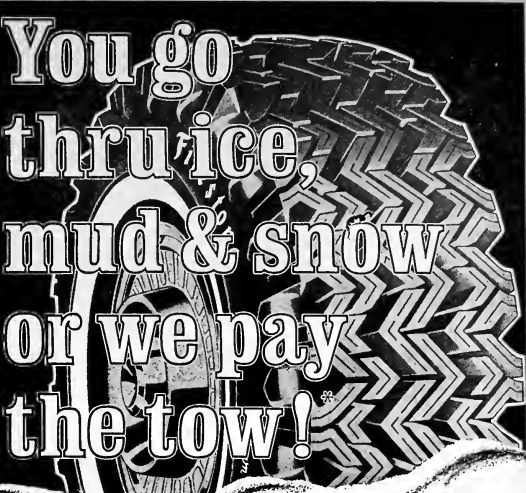

Paul Mory was second with 8.3, followed by John Hemphill with 4.5. Club members who sail in the Penguin Class took part in a regatta at Red Bank.

HUN BLANKS SINGRY

Final Home Game Saturday. The Hun School defense is improving with each succeeding game. The progression of praise from coach Hawley Waterman has been "good," "excellent" to "exceptional."

Last week Hun stopped visiting Princeton, 6-0, for its third consecutive shutout, limiting the visitors to minus rushing in the second half. With the exception of Perkelton, Hun's sole conqueror this fall, no team has scored more than six points against the Red and Black. Based on its defensive ability, the chances of Hun winning its final two for a 7-1 record appear to be better than 50-50.

MISS BRENTWOOD AND FRIEND: "Miss Brentwood," chestnut mare owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Spencer, Glenburn Valley Farm, was named Champion Limit Three-Gaited Saddle Horse at the horse show in Madison Square Garden. A blue ribbon goes, with the citation, "Miss Brentwood" also placed third in the Ladies State at Harrisburg and won the Limit Division at the New York State Exposition. She is shown here with Mrs. Spencer.

Sports in Princeton

In line to take a crack at trying to penetrate the Hun Defense is George School, which will come to Princeton Saturday for a 2 o'clock meeting with the Johnny Huns. It will be the final home appearance of the year for Hun.

According to Waterman,

George School is "just starting to come alive." The Newtown, Pa. eleven has won its last two, defeating Pennington in its last outing, 12-6. Pennington will be Hun's final opponent of the season.

The only scoring in the Piny contest came early as Hun exploded for 14 yards in two plays and a TD the second time it got the ball. Quarterback Jim MacLeod threw a 47-yard strike to Jack Parridge to the 17-yard stripe, from where Mike Miller scored a play later.

After that, the contest evolved into an afternoon of frustration for Hun as the victors drove repeatedly inside the 50 but were unable to score a gain. Most of the abortive lunging was done by Miller who carried 15 times for 130 yards and fullback Charles Chipman, who racked up 91 yards in 11 carries.

HOCKEY LEAGUE FORMING
In Lawrence Township, A Pee Wee Hockey League for Lawrence Township boys 8-12 is being formed by the newly-raised Lawrence Township Pee Wee Hockey Association. Play will take place throughout the winter on the evered rink at the Lawrenceville School early each Saturday morning.

From a limited number of applications the Association hopes to field four uniformed and equipped teams each Saturday. Coaching will be handled by former college players, including Charles Peterson, 1953 hockey captain at Princeton.

Huns must be at least eight years old as of May 31, 1965, and no older than 12 as of May 31, 1966. A membership fee to cover the cost of rink rental and insurance will be charged. Application forms may be obtained from Harlan Whitehead in Lawrenceville, 696-6922.

BOWLING NOTES

Hook & Ladder "H" in Lead: After posting in third place last week in the Tri-Country Firemen's League, Hook & Ladder "H" made a successful bid for league leadership. With a total of 30 points it holds a slim margin over challengers Princeton 10 and Dutch Neck tied for second with 34 points.

Joe Cavanaugh rolled the highest game in individual competition with a 223 effort. Not far behind was Dick Anderson, who had a 223 effort. John Fitzpatrick and Bill Whelan also shared honors with high games of 212 and 209 respectively.

In the B League Key Shop was sported twice by Ivy but continued to hold an eight-point lead over by Inn. Maul Electric and Prince Town Del. all tied for second with 50 points. Prince Town Del.

moving from fourth place into a tie for second, had team scores of 809-1043-861 for a 2013 total, highest in the league this season.

Harry Kahn and Joe Balduino set the pace in individual play with series of 617 and 581 and high games of 232 and 233 respectively. Frank Delnesso, John Anderson and Larry Golden also had high marks with 228, 224 and 219 games respectively.

Nassau Liquor took over second place in the Nassau League behind last week's leader, Cifelli Electric. Cifelli has 34 points and Nassau Liquor has 32 points. Three teams, the Experts, Italian A.S.C. and Princeton Elks, are tied for third with 30 points.

Ed Hughes and Bill Dumble were way ahead of the field in the race for third place. Hughes scattered the pins for a 234 high game and Dumble knocked them down for a 232 game.

The top four teams in the Three-man Classic League retained their positions of last week with Deckers Dairy adding a point to its slim lead, Deckers Dairy reeds in first with 18 points, Johnson Electric follows with 15½ points. Turner Motors is a close third with 14½ points and Farr Hardware holds fourth spot with 12.

Performing well as individuals last week were Bill Parke with a 228 game and Pros Amelbacher with a 222 game. Other high scores included Joe Balduino's 216, Bill Flock's 214, Frank Cawley's 212 and Bill Pennington's 212-200-201 series for a 613 total.

ECO

the reason why visitors from all over the world will be coming to Succasunna, N.J.

This unassuming building in a small town in Morris County will be drawing men from Europe, Asia, Latin America, and just about everywhere else. They will not be casual visitors, but communications experts. Often the top men in their own countries. They will be coming for a look at the future—ECO—the new Electronic Central Office that makes New Jersey the home of the most advanced telephone service in the world.

ECO has been described as a "fundamental breakthrough in communications." Its revolutionary electronic switching system makes possible many remarkable new telephone services. ECO is now being tested in the Succasunna area. Several new services are being tried now by two hundred telephone customers there.

Abbreviated Dialing: You dial only three or four digits to make your connection. Variable Call Transfer: Suppose you're going to be away from home for the evening. Before leaving, by dialing a special code and a telephone number, you can have incoming calls automatically transferred to the place where you are going.

Fixed Call Transfer: In much the same way, you can have calls transferred to pre-selected numbers by dialing just a few digits.

Dial Conference: You can set up a "conference" call with two or three other persons quickly and simply by dialing a special code and the numbers you want. Add-on Conference: While having a telephone conversation, you can have a third person join in. You simply dial a special code followed by his phone number. There are just a few of the new services an electronic switching office may make possible for you someday. There are literally dozens of other communications advances that can easily be programmed into an ECO. Small wonder communications men all over the world are interested—and coming to see what will be happening to your phone service in the future.

BIG SMALL HOUSE OR SMALL BIG HOUSE?

We can't really decide; but of this we're certain, we love it, and we think you will, too. Part of all it's on one of our favorite little Tomsip streets, Westchester Lane, a delightful cul-de-sac where traffic is light and children are safe and happy. Add to this a lovely private lot with a backdrop of towering Norwegian pines and you've got a well wish perfect setting for this unusual home: a split level with a truly workable floor plan. On the main floor, there's a foyer (with steps down to a lower level); a delightful sunny living room distinguished by a fireplace and a wall of bookshelves; a rear dining room which opens to the terrace; and a newly refurbished kitchen having gas stove, dishwasher, and stainless steel sink. A few steps from the kitchen (and foyer), there's a playroom, a study with all sorts of built-ins, and a bedroom and full bath. The playroom opens not only to the basement but also to a big breezy carport as well, making loads of overflow space for bike storage, etc. on rainy days. Upstairs, on two separate levels, there are four bedrooms and another bath. A tile storage hot water heat, and excellent condition make this a beautiful little big house a real find at

ON THE LAKE . . . we have ten wooded half-acre lots in beautiful Riverside, where the builder plans to offer 4-bedroom Colonials in the $65,000 bracket. If you intend to retire in Princeton, we can show you one floor homes (with expansion attices as an investment hedge) which this builder will erect for about $60,- 000. However, since these are the only building sites available in the Riverside area, we should like to suggest that you look into this opportunity at once.
Further details on request.

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . only a few miles from Princeton, this beautifully maintained home on a large lot might be exactly what you have been looking for. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, modern kitchen,
3 bedrooms and bath, family room, 3-car garage. Most interesting, however, is the large wing just added which could be another bedroom, or quarters for an aging parent, or a studio. It isn't often that an existing home offers such flexibility, so we feel that you ought to see it before you decide. $45,000

CONTEMPORARY . . . here is a perfect darling of a house, located on a rise in the midst of an acre of woods. You'll be really living in the country here — close to the new Green Acres park and Mercer County Arboretum — yet only a mile or so from Shopping Center and school.
This unusual home — once the subject of an article in House Beautiful — has a terrace as long as the house, a swimming pool with heated and filtered water, central air-conditioning, master bedroom & bath, and 2 other bedrooms & bath. Living and family rooms are large. There is a spectacular kitchen, and the window walls add to the illusion of space when the curtains are drawn and all outdoors seems to merge with the indoors. (Sole Agent) $69,500

VERY SPECIAL . . . built back from the road in order to shade the house under one of the most enormous old white oaks now living in Princeton.
This one-story gem of brick (painted white) and grey shingles, has a big master bedroom and bath, and 2 other bedrooms and bath. Many large, deep closets. Living room with fireplace, paneled library with sliding doors opening to a secluded terrace, handsome dining room. The kitchen, however, is the showplace of the home. Designed by the owner of this custom-built house, it has many features that will endear it to a housewife who likes everything to be just so. This is the kind of home it is very easy to love . . . And you can move in almost at once.
(Sole Agent) $67,500

LIVE ON CAMPUS . . . send your girls to the marvelous new Stuart Country Day School directly across the street, or give all your fine children an opportunity to learn and play at the fabulous new Princeton Day Schools just a short bike ride away from home. Nowhere else in Princeton can your family live and get either a religious or secular education while sparing you the chore of running a taxi service for your kids. And here is a big, brand new Colonial, with 6 bedrooms, and 4 baths, and large living, dining and family rooms, that offers you the kind of real luxury living that you are used to. Two acres of magnificently wooded land.
(Sole Agent) $89,500

Many fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.

THORNE'S DECLARES PEACE!

After ten weeks of hammers, power saws, routers, air hammers and their clouds of sawdust and clumps of plaster and assorted debris, we've settled down to our normal, frantic pace.

We know we're being redundant, but we want to thank you all again for putting up with the mess. To those of you who have stayed away, we can say that it's safe to cross the threshold again.

This week — We're X'ing In All The Boxes!
